Bags 2 Nazi Planes in 30 Seconds

It took this South African pilot just half a minute to shoot down two ME 109's over the English Channel at lunch-time. He was flying a Spitfire at the time. Within 20 minutes of leaving his base he had returned. His score so far is four, plus a probable and five damaged. He here shows his "Mae West" with a Springbok stencilled on it.

All-out Air War Opens on Italians

LONDON (CP)—The R.A.F. has opened an all-out offensive against Italy, slashing at her northern industrial and military centres with the heaviest possible bomb loads from bases in Britain and at southern cities from Britain's Mediterranean bases—an assault which informed quarters said might be the start of a "bomb Italy out of the war" campaign.

Four-motored Stirlings, which are the heaviest weight-carrying craft in R.A.F. operation, skimmed the Alps with a swarm of twin-motored Wellingtons last night to smash at the northern cities of Genoa, Turin and other points. Raging fires were reported left at Genoa.

The raiders skirted a "terrific" electric storm over the Alps, clearing Mont Blanc by only about 400 feet, according to the returning airmen.

Timed with this thrust were week-end attacks by the R.A.F. on the middle east at four cities in Sicily, the island of Rhodes and the African coast—this according to the Italians' own acknowledgement.

The Genoa attackers were quoted by the Air Ministry news service as telling how they attacked the Italian port and naval base from altitudes as low as 2,000 and 3,000 feet.

"Going out," said one Wellington pilot, "it was moonlight and we saw the coast, but as we neared the Alps clouds began to build up. We skirted a terrific electric storm, going on over Mont Blanc. We could see great zigzag flashes of lightning."

"When we got to Genoa we stayed for an hour and a half flying around at between 2,000 and 3,000 feet. Bombers above kept dropping flares round us and lighting up our Wellington. There was a good deal of heavy flak and fair amount of light flak."

LOFTY IN ACTION

"There were two layers of cloud over Genoa and a high bank of cloud had come up over the moon, but we picked a good pinpoint for our first run up. Our bomb aimer—he's called 'Lofty' because he stands six feet three inches—decided to drop a few incendiaries."

"A cautious Scot, he was not going to put all his bombs down at once. The incendiaries went off with a rush right in a factory, and soon you could see the flames coming out of rooftops and windows."

"The whole of one end of the factory—it was an enormous place—was lit up. We went around again and dropped our next stick. We gave them a bit of both this time—high explosive bomb right on the OTTAWA (CP)—Only 500th of 1 per cent of the workers in Canadian industry are now on strike, Labor Minister McLarty said today following the return to work of some 4,000 strikers at McKinnon Industries Ltd., St. Catharines, Ont.

"There is no democratic country in the world where the number of men on strike is as low as it is in Canada today," the minister said.

The only war industry strike concerns 53 men in a bolt factory at Vancouver. The only other sizeable strike concerns beverage-room workers in Toronto, about 250 being involved.

Germans Execute 6 Czechs, Premier Held for Treason

LONDON (CP)—The Czech government-in-exile announced today six persons had been executed on order of Reinhard Heydrich, new Reich's protector for Bohemia-Moravia, including General Josef Bily, former military commander of Bohemia and divisional General Hugo Vojti, deputy commander of the seventh army corps at Bratislava.

Bratislava is the capital of the German-protected state of Slovakia which Germany carved out of dismembered Czechoslovakia.

The first news of the six executions, while names were not given, had come previously from the German radio, according to a Reuters' transcript of the broadcast which said the condemned persons went before the firing squad yesterday.

The executions were the first imposed by Heydrich, right-hand man of the Gestapo chief, Heinrich Himmler.

Dr. Edouard Benes, chief of the provisional Czech government, predicted at a luncheon of Czech leaders a new wave of terror would follow the sending of Heydrich, Himmler's "most sanguinary lieutenant" to Prague.

HELD FOR TREASON

BERLIN (AP)—General Alois Elias, premier of the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia, was held today on charges of premeditated high treason as Nazi authorities took steps to curb certain elements along the Czech population which they said had committed acts hostile to the Reich.

Reinhard Heydrich clamped a state of civil emergency on six districts of Bohemia-Moravia within 24 hours after relieving 65-year-old Baron Konstantin von Neurath as Reich's protector. Von Neurath was said to have asked a temporary leave because of ill health.

No details were released on measures to be taken under the state of emergency, but it generally includes a curfew, closing of theatres and other public gathering places, summary executions, exceptionally-heavy prison

Gen. Elias, who was trained in the Austro-Hungarian army and became premier of the protectorate on April 27, 1939, with Hitler's blessing, will be tried before the German people's court, an announcement said.

Earlier today the Germans announced two men were put to death in Paris Saturday for possessing forbidden weapons. The announcement was made in a published notice signed by Gen. Otto von Stuepnagel, military command for occupied France. The men, Eugene Devigne and Mohamed Moali, were sentenced the day before. This was the first news of the double execution to be published in Berlin. Von Stuepnagel's announcement, however, had been given out in Paris on the day the men went before the firing squad.

Nazis Hurled From Trenches

Associated Press
Soviet dispatches today reported the rout of two German-allied Rumanian infantry brigades in bitter fighting on the southern (Ukraine) front, with more than 2,500 Rumanians killed, and declared Marshal Timoshenko's Red armies on the central front had recaptured 10 more villages in a drive from Yelnya to Smolensk.

Soviet troops were reported to have hurled the Germans from three lines of trenches and crossed the Desna River in advancing on a six-mile front.

Around siege-girt Leningrad, in the north, Soviet front-line reports said the city's defenders were "attacking incessantly, then driving forward without respite."

A Russian correspondent telegraphed from behind the siege lines that "we have already cracked the enemy's advance."

Advices reaching London said German planes were violently blasting railroads and highways on the Crimea peninsula, key to control of Black Sea waters, but Nazi troops were making little if any progress in attempts to cross the four-mile wide Perekop Isthmus.

Behind this gateway to the Crimea, the Russians were declared to be holding stoutly, wiping out German parachute troops and shelling the Germans to a standstill behind a vast death-trap of minefields at the isthmus bottleneck.

A Simla dispatch said the British commanders-in-chief in India and the Middle East had decided at Baghdad on "full details of co-operation between India and the Middle East regarding the anti-Axis front now established from Syria through Iraq to the left flank of the Russian armies."

Hitler's high command, silent on the Crimea operations, reported German and Italian troops had outflanked and destroyed three Soviet divisions—about 45,000 men—in a battle northeast of the Nazi-held city of Dnieperopetrovsk.

The high command said the Russians, caught in swampy terrain, suffered heavy and bloody losses, with 13,000 Red troops taken prisoner so far.

The Russians claimed their coastal batteries and ship guns sank a German cruiser and destroyed and damaged two other destroyers in the Baltic Sea and that the Red fleet sank two transports of 8,000 and 5,000 tons in the Arctic Sea and a tanker of 6,000 tons in the Black Sea.

German reports said the Nazi soldiers were pushing to the east after completing the encirclement battle east of Kiev while far to the north Nazi shore batteries shelling Kronstadt had set fire to one Red cruiser. German bombers claimed to have hit with heavy bombs a Red battleship near Kronstadt.

Windsors Reach Home

PEKISKO, Alta. (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived at the duke's 3,000-acre ranch deep in Alberta's foothills this afternoon.

Driving up to the large ranch house in near perfect weather one of the first remarks made by the duke was that it was like "home" and the duchess exclaimed: "My, it's lovely."

Along the trail a cowboy shouted "Howdy," as the ducal party drove by, and when he finally saw who was riding in the car, he took his 10-gallon hat off and bowed.

The duke said that after two years in the tropics their blood was somewhat thin and they had brought along plenty of warm clothes.

Soon after they arrived, His Royal Highness began to show the ranch to the duchess.

Bombings, U-Boats No Longer Chief Concerns of Britons

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, Institute of Public Opinion

Copyright, 1941
LONDON—The change from a defensive to an offensive psychology among the men and women of Britain is illustrated today in results of a nation-wide sampling of public opinion in the British Isles.

"What do you consider the most important war problem the British government must solve in the next few months?" voters were asked by the British Institute of Public Opinion.

Ten months ago, when that question was first asked, the people of Britain were undergoing the first terrible weeks of the Nazi aerial bombardments, and the chief problem, the voters said, was defending their homes and lives against the night bombers.

Only four months ago, the problem of night bombings had receded considerably into the background, and the voters of Britain said the "big job" was to stop the shipping losses caused by Nazi submarines and surface raiders—a menace that threatened to bleed British resistance to death.

But today, with Russia engaging Adolf Hitler's forces on the vast eastern front, British minds are preoccupied more than ever before with the straight question of an invasion of the continent and with other offensive moves.

Here, in the order of frequency,

is what Britons told interviewers in reply to the question:

1. Invading the continent.
2. Increasing the speed of war production.
3. Maintaining food supplies.
4. Night bombing.
5. Help to Russia.
6. Checking submarine attacks and shipping losses.
7. Organizing manpower more efficiently.

In addition to these replies, which were entirely voluntary and not prompted by lists of any kind, about five persons in every hundred said the chief problem would be "ending the war."

In recent by-elections in Britain, candidates who favored ending the war at the present time, or making a negotiated peace with Hitler, have received between 6 and 8 per cent of the total vote.

ATTITUDE YEAR AGO

Less than a year ago, in November, 1940, Britons ranked the chief problems of the country as follows:

1. Night bombing.
2. Shipping losses and food supply.
3. Increasing production of arms and aircraft.
4. Public health.
5. Preparation for an offensive.

Warm Welcome For Windsors

ALDERSYDE, Alta. (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor ended their long train-ride from Miami, Fla., today and left this southern Alberta village for a 31-mile drive over a prairie road to the Duke's "EP" ranch, southwest of here.

A large crowd of farmers and ranchers crowded the small station platform as the Duke and Duchess stepped from their private car.

Earlier the Duke and Duchess arrived in Calgary, and after a brief stopover on the platform of the station left for Aldersyde. A crowd of approximately 1,500 waited in Calgary for an hour to catch a brief glimpse of the couple, whose train arrived three-quarters of an hour behind schedule.

During his 40-minute stopover the Duke chatted with A. C. Newton of Calgary, chairman of the directors of his estate in Alberta, Calgary's chief of police S. J. Patterson, Supt. R. C. Mercer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Mrs. Mercer and others. He told Mr. Newton and Mr. Patterson "we're here at last... as a matter of fact we wanted to come here last year."

Officials of the party said the Duke and Duchess might have taken a brief drive around downtown Calgary had it not been for the crowd that encircled him outside the station.

When the Duke and Duchess again boarded their car they stood several minutes on the platform as the street crowd rushed through the depot gates. Included were some 50 soldiers, who left Calgary on another train later.

PETS TRAVEL, TOO

Three little pets—The Duchess of Windsor's Cairn terriers—seemed just as happy to arrive in Calgary as their mistress.

"I wonder if they'll take to hunting gophers?" the Duchess remarked to a crowd of Calgarians standing around the private railway coach.

The dogs are Datto, Breeze and Poole.

At Moose Jaw a crowd of 3,000 literally crushed the Windsors as they stepped down from their train. It was announced the Duke and Duchess would walk down the city's main street, but they never got 20 feet past the station entrance, so dense and friendly was the crowd. Cheer after cheer arose from the people.

Her Grace smiled continually. The Duke was full of questions and talked to many who rubbed elbows with him.

At Estevan, Sask., 2,000 persons met the train. There the Duke met a group of war veterans. To W. C. V. Mills of Radville, His Royal Highness said "you're all old veterans, but we are only as old as we feel. I consider myself an old veteran, too."

I ended the war with the Canadians.

Another veteran yelled, "Hi, Duke," and extended his hand toward the platform of the train coach. Just at that minute, however, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer pushed the crowd back.

The Duke and Duchess entered Canada at North Fort, Sask. It was a triumphant entourage. On his arrival in Canada they received a personal letter of welcome from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, handed to His Royal Highness by Col. C. H. King of Victoria, B.C., who will remain with the Windsors while they are in Canada.

On their journey through Minnesota, the Duke and his American-born Duchess were cheered by hundreds of Americans, who gathered on every station platform. The visitors spent hours on the rear platform of their private car, waving delightedly.

They dined last night on pheasants, prairie chickens and other game given to them at stations in North Dakota. People brought their presents and handed them over the platform to the Duke and his wife.

At Weyburn, His Royal Highness talked with a group of boys about harvesting. He asked Lloyd Smith, 18, of Weyburn about crop conditions, and, spotting Claude Williams, 14, nursing a broken arm, asked him what happened. He was told "playing football," whereupon another youngster shouted to the Duke, "ah, he broke it once before."

Of the Duchess many of the women said "she's more beautiful than her pictures."

Incident On East Coast

Airmen Refused to Sail On Dirty, Crowded Ship

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—An estimated 1,000 Canadian, Australian, New Zealand and British airmen walked off a troop transport in this harbor recently in protest against conditions under which they claimed they would have to live in crossing the Atlantic.

A Canadian sergeant pilot said 260 of the men did not return to the transport and that they were brought before a Court of Inquiry on charges of disobeying orders. He said the majority of the men went back aboard after being urged to do so by officers. The 260 men marched from the piers to the embarkation depot.

The sergeant pilot told the Canadian Press the men were "jammed in like sardines" aboard the ship. He said 400 men were supposed to sleep in one room. He could not find a place to hang his hammock and there were "10 wash basins for the 400." The Canadian said he took his sleeping equipment out on deck but decided it was "too dirty" to sleep on.

BARRED RETURN

When the airmen decided to walk off their way was barred by an armed guard at the gangplank. Fifty three ropes over the side and reached the pier that way. The Canadian said other pushed the guard aside and that as a wing commander talked to the airmen in the piers, soldiers were formed up behind him.

The men who returned to their barracks were later brought before a military court of inquiry. The Canadian pilot said his flying pay was cut off and that pay of the ground men who participated was stopped for a time.

The ship which the men disembarked has been in service as a transport in the Middle East. Aboard when the airmen arrived were veterans of the war in Crete, Greece and Libya, returning to Britain.

HAVE ARRIVED OVERSEAS

In a statement commenting on the incident, Air Minister Power said: "In the end, not 1,000 but a couple of hundred airmen were left on the dock when the ship sailed at the scheduled hour with more than two-thirds of the contingent aboard." These men, he said, now had arrived safely overseas.

Mr. Power said "there need be no fear of any repetition of an unfortunate incident which the tides of war, the accidents of weather and the errors of human judgment combined to provoke."

DIRTY AND UNTIDY

Mr. Power said the ship had been half-way round the world and was "dirty and untidy," but apparently she was all the Admiralty had readily available at the moment. The weather had made it impossible for the ship to enter dock for cleaning.

The first airmen who went aboard—Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders—didn't like what they saw, Mr. Power said. A number walked ashore again and spread the word among those who had not yet gone aboard.

"Those who remained were disciplined, though not severely—a reduction in pay was imposed—and they sailed a short time later on another ship," he said.

"We recognized that they had grounds for complaint about the accommodation, but we cannot sympathize with their means of expressing it...."

STEPS TO CORRECT

"But it can be said that the conduct of the disobedient men, apart from their courteous but firm refusal to sail under the conditions provided, was exemplary, and this was taken into account when discipline was imposed."

The Air Ministry's attitude was that "this is a case where a corrective is urgently demanded" and "we propose to take steps so that similar conditions will not recur." The ministry's views were being put "very strongly" before the appropriate authorities in London.

Air Force Heads Inspect Centre

After being delayed by fog at Calgary so they had to continue their trip by train instead of air, S. L. DeCarteret, Deputy Minister of National Defence for Air, and Air Vice-Marshal Lloyd S. Broad-ner, chief of air staff of the Royal Canadian Air Force, arrived here from Vancouver today on an official tour of inspection on command headquarters and the Patricia Bay training school.

Although scheduled to inspect training centres in Vancouver, the party, which also included Air Vice-Marshal H. Edwards, air member for personnel of the R.C.A.F., continued here directly. If the weather permits, the party will take off Tuesday morning for the west coast as scheduled.

Leaving at 9 the group will proceed to Ucluelet and then Allford Bay. They will spend Tuesday night at Prince Rupert. After inspecting the airports at Prince Rupert the party will fly down the coast to Bella Bella and Coal Harbor Wednesday. They will proceed to Calgary Thursday morning.

Bad flying conditions upset the schedule so the inspection here was cut short. This morning the officials went to Patricia Bay and inspected the airports at Prince Rupert. The party will fly down the coast to Bella Bella and Coal Harbor Wednesday. They will proceed to Calgary Thursday morning.

The air vice-marshal and the Deputy Minister for Air arrived here in the wake of a party of top-ranking British air force officials who landed in Vancouver from Regina on Saturday and inspected the Patricia Bay training centre Sunday.

The party of Royal Air Force officials included Air Marshal A. G. R. Garrod, Group Capt. Lord Douglass Hamilton and Group Capt. G. G. Bantling. Accompanying them was Canada's chief executive in the training branch of the Royal Canadian Air Force, Air Commodore Robert Leckie.

The Royal Air Force party returned to Vancouver Sunday afternoon.

A dinner will be given for the Canadian air force officials by Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey, air officer commanding the Western Air Command, at the Empress Hotel at 8 this evening.

Death of Senator Webster brings red chamber vacancies to seven. His death changed the Senate standing to: Conservatives 43, Liberals 46, vacancies, 7.

Bader Tried To Escape

NEW YORK (AP)—Douglas Bader, the R.A.F. pilot who became a fighting ace even though he had no legs, tried to escape from his German captors as soon as he got a new metal leg by special R.A.F. parachute delivery. It is reported here.

The story, as told by Harry W. Flannery, CBS correspondent, in a broadcast from Berlin, was that Bader tried to get away August 19, the night the new leg arrived at the French airdrome where he was held to replace one damaged when he was forced down.

German Major Eric von Bach was quoted as saying a celebration was held in honor of the event.

"There was a little drinking, I guess," said the major, "and Bader danced and turned somersaults and generally enjoyed it. Then, when it came time to break up, Bader was nowhere to be found."

"Later some searchers came upon him in a hayloft down the road on his way, he thought, to liberty."

"So they took away one of his legs every night and gave it back in the morning. I suppose he has them both all the time now, since he's probably in a regular prisoner-of-war camp."

Qualified leaders in desert warfare, Sandford lived 30 years in Ethiopia and Wingate won the D.S.O. for daring night patrols against Arabs during riots in Palestine.

Roosevelt Speaks

14 'Ugly Duckling' Ships Launched in U.S. Yards

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt acclaimed Saturday's launching of 14 cargo ships as "a telling blow to the menace of our nation," and emphasized his intention to protect United States merchantmen "from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The President's congratulations on the largest mass launching since First Great War days were sent in a specially-transcribed message to the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf yards, where the vessels slid down the ways at intervals from dawn to dusk.

America's shipbuilders, the President said, "have caught the true spirit with which all this nation must be imbued if Hitler and other aggressors of his ilk are to be prevented from crushing us."

"We Americans as a whole," he continued, "cannot listen to those few Americans who preach the gospel of fear—who sit in effect that they are still in favor of freedom of the seas, but who would have the United States tie up our vessels in our ports. That attitude is neither truthful nor honest."

PROTECTION

"We propose that these ships sail the seas as they are intended to. We propose, to the best of our ability, to protect them from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The day was designated "Liberty Fleet Day," to mark the first launchings of emergency freighters in the Maritime Commission's vast construction program. Three of the "liberty ships"—sometimes called "ugly ducklings," because of their workaday design—were on today's launching schedule.

Mr. Roosevelt noted the first of the liberty ships, built at Baltimore, was to be called the Patrick Henry, and he recalled that revolutionary patriot's famous demand: "Give me liberty or give me death."

"There shall be no death for America, for democracy, for freedom!" the president proclaimed. "There must be liberty, world-wide and eternal. That is our prayer—our pledge to all mankind."

The nation's shipbuilding program must be speeded to an eventual goal of two vessels every day, Mr. Roosevelt asserted. And he bespoke the co-operation of all Americans, whether living on the seacoasts or far inland.

"As a nation," he said, "we have realized that our export trade and our import trade had a definitely good effect on the life of families, not only on our coasts but on the farms and in the cities 100 or a 1,000 miles from salt water."

The navy this week also reached the fastest launching pace since start of the two-ocean construction program. Six warships, including the battleship Massachusetts, slid into the water. The other five were destroyers.

The maritime commission's present construction program calls for completion of approximately 1,400 merchant ships by the end of 1943, with the President's two-day goal expected to be reached next spring.

Designed for rapid construction, the Liberty ship has an overall length of 441 feet 6 inches, a beam of 57 feet, a total displacement of 14,100 tons, and will carry a general cargo of 9,146 tons. Its speed approximates 11 knots.

The ships are slower than any of the three designs of C-boats, backbone of the maritime commission's long-range program. Of those three types, the C-3 is the largest, about 12,500 deadweight tons, with a normal speed of 16½ knots, but capable of traveling considerably faster.

Contracts for construction of 312 "ugly ducklings" have been awarded. Of these, 112 are scheduled to go to Britain under the Lend-Lease Act.

On the eve of Liberty Fleet Day, Britain's Minister of War Transport, Lord Leathers, and Sir Arthur Salter, head of the British shipping mission in the United States, sent congratulations to the commission.

Lord Leathers said the mass launching "symbolizes for us and our allies the cause for which we are fighting."

Sir Arthur said the Liberty ships are the first "of a great fleet of ships, themselves dedicated to the cause of liberty."

Hanson Visits Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson, Canadian Conservative House leader, returned to London today after a "very wonderful visit" with Prime Minister Churchill who was luncheon host in the country to Mr. Hanson and his fact-finding party.

"We talked about everything," said Mr. Hanson.

Canadian News Party Sees Fighter Pilots

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—A group of representatives of Canadian newspapers were given an opportunity Saturday to talk with pilots of a Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadron returning from a sweep of northern France in which they destroyed one German fighter and possibly damaged a second.

After luncheon at a famous seaside resort now almost deserted except for local residents, the Canadian party went to the fighter station and waited on the field to greet the pilots as they stepped from their Hurricanes.

Squad-Ldr. V. B. Corbett of Belleville, Ont., and Sgt. Pilot George McClusky of Kirkland Lake, Ont., shared credit for the plane destroyed. Flying Officer Fred Kelly of Toronto saw another pass through the line of his machine-gun fire and possibly "messed it up" enough to place it in the "damaged" category.

BAG INCREASING

The plane shot down, a Messerschmitt 109, was the second confirmed victim of the Canadians' fire since they moved into this station a little more than one month ago. They also have six probables and two damaged, not including Saturday's one.

The newspaper representatives were welcomed at the station by its commander, an R.A.F. officer, who praised the work of his Canadian pilots, saying they "are grand chaps."

As the fighters began to arrive back from over France, the newspapermen singled out men from the parts of Canada they represent and got personal stories of the day's engagements from the

With the Forces Play Ball in Scotland

Journeying to Scotland, an all-star baseball team, composed mostly of Chemainus and Ladysmith men serving in England, met a team of one of the other companies. Among the island boys playing were Jocko and Danny Wyllie and Jerry Smith of Chemainus, and Ken McGladry, Pete Hawryluk and Bull Battie.

Joins Women's Corps

Miss Barbara Cowan, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Cowan, live at Duncan, has signed up with the Canadian Army Women's Corps. She will work as a stenographer in the district depot. Miss Cowan was formerly an active member of the Red Cross Corps in Vancouver.

Air Hero Home

Visiting with his aunt, Mrs. G. More, Duncan, last week was Flight-Lt. Hamilton Upton of the R.A.F. Flight-Lt. Upton, who received the D.F.C. for shooting down nine confirmed and 16 unconfirmed Nazi planes, came from England recently to be an air force instructor in Canada.

ROYAL OAK

A special 500 card party was held in the community hall under the auspices of the community betterment committee of the Royal Oak Women's Institute. Prizes were won by E. R. Heal, Mrs. J. Reid, A. D. Corker and T. T. Hutchison. A tea set was won by Mrs. N. Cooper.

Miss D. Hewitt, Prospect Lake Road, has left for Vancouver to visit her sister.

New Duties Set For Army Service

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Defence Department announces a new role for the Canadian (Reserve) Army under which it will have three broad duties: "An operational role in defence of Canada where required; aid to the civil power in case of subversive or other disturbances, and reinforcement of the active army."

"The order in which the functions are mentioned above is not indicative of a descending degree of importance," the department said in a statement. "All are essential, and just which function is most important will depend on conditions at the particular times. Reserve units will be administered so they may be in a position to exercise which ever function they may be called upon to perform."

NEW ROLE

Tasks assigned to the reserve army under its "aid to the civil power" duty include allotment of areas of unit responsibility and reconnaissance of such areas; preparations for quick assembly at short notice; plans for rapid movement within areas; and administration arrangements required should units be called for duty.

"The nature of the new role of the reserve army will exercise a noticeable effect on the type of men enlisting," the department said.

CATEGORY LOWERED

"Therefore, the age limit for reserve army recruits will be increased to 50 years and the medical category required for enlistment lowered to category C."

(Previously the age limit was 45. Medical requirements were not closely determined but most units accepted men only in class A and B.)

"In order to assist reserve army units to carry on with reinforcing active army formations, men of 18 years of age will be allowed to enlist in the reserve with the object of obtaining preliminary training prior to reaching the age which will enable them to enlist for active service."

(Previously men of 18 could only enter a reserve unit with the approval of the commanding officer.)

The department said present plans do not contemplate an extensive additional mobilization of reserve units. But in wartime situations were changing constantly "and reserve units will be maintained in a condition that will permit of mobilization for service at home or overseas."

SIR WM. HEARST DIES IN TORONTO

TORONTO (CP)—Sir William Hearst, 77, who introduced prohibition in Ontario when he was provincial premier during the first Great War, died today.

Sir William became Premier of Ontario in the first year of the Great War, October 2, 1914. Following in the footsteps of his immediate predecessor, the late Sir James Pliny Whitney, Premier Hearst threw himself into war activities wholeheartedly. Sir William's knighthood came to him in 1916, as a recognition of his valued services in behalf of the Empire.

The administration of Sir William Hearst, however, will probably be remembered chiefly by the Ontario Temperance Act. This was introduced and carried into effect by his government as a war measure. It went into force on September 16, 1916.

After the defeat of the Hearst government, Sir William retired from political life and settled in Toronto, where one of his sons, W. Irving Hearst, engaged in legal practice. He was appointed a member of International Joint Commission, which has under consideration questions affecting the international waters between Canada and the United States.

Sir William was the youngest son of the late William Hearst, one of the pioneers of Bruce County, Ont., and Margaret (McFadden) Hearst. He was born in the Township of Arran, County of Bruce, on February 15, 1863. He was educated at the Collingwood Collegiate Institute and the University of Toronto.

He married Isabella Jane, daughter of the late John Dundas of Simcoe, Ont., in July, 1891. Two sons and two daughters were born.

Sir William was a prominent Freemason and a member of the Methodist Church.

'DEPENDS ON OX'

OTTAWA (CP)—G. R. Cottrill, Canadian oil controller, in announcing a new quota basis for gasoline supplies, said "the fact is we haven't got the gasoline and can't give it to the people. Everyone wants to win the war as long as his ox isn't gored."

Legion Wants Men Conscripted

OTTAWA (CP)—Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, announces the Dominion executive council has been called to an extraordinary war session here October 20 and 21 to urge upon the federal government a "total war effort" including "conscription of manpower for service wherever the enemy may be."

Mr. Walker said the primary purpose of the meeting would be to ask the government to give immediate effect to the "universal demand of the Canadian people, regardless of race, creed or geographic origin, for a total war effort."

"This action is taken in no spirit of carping 'criticism,'" Mr. Walker said. "Much that Canada has done is commendable, but in the legion's judgment this effort still is far short of total war."

"We are told, and we are convinced ourselves, that total war is the only way to beat Hitler. Total war includes not only mobilization of wealth and material resources, but also conscription of manpower for service wherever the enemy may be."

"That is the only place to beat him and Canada must not leave this to the British and the Russians, or, if we don't hurry, to the Americans."

"Canada, with a population of 12,000,000 should have 40 divisions in the field before claiming a total effort," he said.

"The country is united on this question as never before in history. It simply remains for the government to give the lead and this the legion is asking them (the government) to do. That is the purpose of our special council meeting."

Mr. Walker said the meeting was called "in response to urgent requests from all over Canada."

Edmonton Checks '5th Columnists'

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton militia units, in manoeuvre practices, with the assistance of Edmonton city and Royal Canadian Mounted Police blocked off every main road into the city yesterday to check every automobile and pedestrian going through for their national registration card.

The manoeuvre was part of a scheme staged to "protect" Edmonton from infiltration by "fifth columnists" and also to remind citizens their registration cards were to be carried on their person.

Canada Restricts Japanese Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government by order-in-council has banned imports from Japan the Japanese Empire or Manchoukuo, except under special permit from Revenue Minister Gibson.

The order was passed September 23 and made public by the National Revenue Department in a memorandum to collectors of customs and excise.

The memorandum said: "The importation in Canada of goods from Japan, the Japanese Empire, or Manchuria (Manchoukuo), or the growth, produce or manufacture of Japan, the Japanese Empire, or of Manchuria, be and is hereby prohibited except in such cases as the Minister of National Revenue in his discretion deems desirable and under and in accordance with the terms of a permit granted by him."

Italy's Sorry Plight

IT WOULD BE THE HEIGHT OF FOLLY to suppose that a black September, with the prospect of much blacker days to come, will separate Italy from the totalitarian triple alliance. The junior partner of the Axis is not his own master. He is a suppliant of Germany, controlled by the Gestapo, and subject to the will and whims of Adolf Hitler. Rumors of a separate peace should be discounted; it is too late in the day to indulge in any type of wishful thinking.

There are, however, certain aspects of Italy's unenviable condition which may have a bearing on the future progress of the war in the Mediterranean and in North Africa—apart altogether from the effect on the people which their disastrous participation in the Axis program must have produced. The new orders rationing bread and coal is certain to have a depressing influence on a people already sadly disillusioned. Yet it is nevertheless astonishing how the average man and woman can get along with food that under normal circumstances would be considered woefully insufficient to keep body and soul together. But this is not all; Italian households must do without coal until the beginning of December. Lack of food and lack of warmth produce the state of mind in which the spirit of revolution soon begins to manifest itself.

As September goes out, moreover, Mussolini must take cognizance of more than the purely domestic scene as it concerns bread and coal. He must consider the ever-growing toll which British aerial and surface craft are taking of Italian shipping and supplies on their way to Libya; he must contemplate new demands that will be made upon him by his master in Berlin as the campaign in Russia drags on and taps still further the resources available to the Nazi war machine; he must make up his mind to a systematic pounding of Italian factories by the bombers of the Royal Air Force; he must wonder what he should do with the remainder of his forces in the African desert that will be getting fewer and fewer supplies of men and material from the Reich as the valiant armies of the Soviet Union continue to resist the German Wehrmacht.

Nor at this stage can Mussolini bolster his waning hopes with the promise of an early diversion that might involve Britain in the defence of Gibraltar. Hitler has a more pressing engagement elsewhere. Not even the Fuehrer's collaborative plans with Vichy France seem to offer much hope to the little man in Rome; the spirit of unrest in that unhappy country is a cause of serious worry even to the brutally-resourceful Gestapo. Mass slaughter of the innocents will not break the will or hearts of true patriots. And if Mussolini and Hitler expected to have the co-operation of General Weygand and his armies in North Africa, either for a new drive on Egypt or for operations in the great bulge of West Africa, the Russian campaign and growing revolt in the occupied countries may well have dashed former rosier hopes.

It does not, of course, risk some individual action if he thought it would save his own skin. Such a move on his part might rob his armed forces of the last vestiges of interest they have in the war. It would be foolish, however, to count on this interesting possibility. In any event, the coming days will be black ones for Italy; but she might improve her prospects for the peace table by throwing up the sponge before she sustains further grievous hurts.

Austria's Hope

HIS VISIT TO VICTORIA THIS WEEK emphasizes the important part Archduke Otto of Austria is playing in bringing his compatriots to a realization that only by the complete defeat of Hitlerism will their country regain the proud place it once enjoyed in the cultural life of the Old World. It should be borne in mind, moreover, that lack of information about this distinguished exiled Austrian's homeland must not be interpreted as evidence that the future is considered hopeless. On the contrary, not even the ruthless methods employed by Gauleiter Baldur von Shiraach have completely extinguished the belief that one day, perhaps in the not distant future, some means will be found to help to avenge the Anschluss and the degradation and horror which followed in its wake.

The Austrian peasant is, of course, traditionally monarchist; his roots are in the soil and he is less influenced by day to day developments; he is less wavering in his political loyalties than city folk. Throughout the Tyrolean countryside last year the birthday of Archduke Otto was celebrated by the lighting of fires and the flying of the black and yellow flags—significant of the spirit of a people under the tyrant's heel. But BBC propaganda in Austria does not seem to have stirred many. The people are not interested in academic disputes; what is evidently wanted is strong and determined leadership, coupled with an assurance by the Allies that some form of Austrian independence will once again be restored. Not that emphasis on the legitimist appeal connotes the recreation of an elaborate imperial court, or a design to bring under Austrian domination a large number of races who want political freedom. All information available points to the contrary.

The present activities on this continent of Archduke Otto are inspired by a conviction that it lies within his power alone to unite Austrians abroad in a strong and determined body to assist the Allied cause, and that his appeal, supported by the fighting anti-totalitarians, would prove a decisive factor in Austria itself—thus creating a major problem for the Nazi leaders. At no time has Otto desired to put back the clock; he is democratic and progressive in outlook, with qualities and accomplishments of a high order. Those who know him and have been intimately associated with him, both in the United States and in Canada, agree that if he should return to Vienna it would be in the role of a constitutional leader able to give the Austrian people political stability. His main object, by the same token, is to see his country used as an instrument for fashioning a Danubian system of sufficient economic strength to resist encroachment of aggressive neighbors.

Since the outbreak of war, Archduke Otto and his brother, Archduke Felix, have traveled thousands of miles in North America delivering lectures about the Austria of the past, the present, and what is hoped for her in the future. It was the late Lord Tweedsmuir, incidentally, who inspired the latter to embark on his initial lecture tour. Another brother, Archduke Robert, has been conducting his campaign from London. And Hitler is well aware of the danger to which he and his regime are exposed by the influence in Austria of the Hapsburgs.

Economically Sound

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE ESQUIMALT Council on its decision to deed the Colville Road property to the Dominion government for the purpose of a project to build workmen's cottages under the War-time Housing Act. The alternative was the purchase of 33 acres of virgin land at a cost of approximately $175 an acre, the preparation of which would have required a considerable outlay of capital, not only in clearing and blasting operations, but also in building roads and providing the normal amenities. The Colville Road property—just as convenient—has been lying idle for years; and when it has been developed under the scheme it will produce revenue to the municipality in the form of taxes. The necessary improvements, of course, will be effected at a much lower cost than would have been the case in the timbered and rocky area. From the outset of the negotiations, it should be noted, Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., fully conversant with the urgent necessity to save every cent in national expenditure that can reasonably be saved, has supported Reeve Lockley's arguments in support of the wiser choice. Commonsense and sound economy have prevailed. It should guide future action in similar circumstances.

Burma Road

AMERICAN TRUCKING EXPERTS JUST returned from China, where they have been advising Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on increasing and safeguarding traffic on the vital Burma Road, bring with them encouraging news. According to Daniel G. Arnstein, one of them, no amount of Japanese bombing will ever close that road. Arnstein was over every foot of it, studying it critically and making a valuable report to Chiang Kai-shek on increasing the traffic which is carrying vital war supplies to China. It cannot be bombed beyond a point where quick and effective repair is possible, Arnstein believes. The Chinese, then, have done their part in building this magnificent artery of freedom. It remains for other friends of freedom to keep the life-blood supplies flowing into it.

Notes

Let us all welcome that colorful old visitor, autumn, with open arms. Even the leaves are falling for it.

"Maybe," says the Calgary Herald editorially, "the reason so many parents send their kids out of town to college is so they can have the use of the car." To which the Ottawa Citizen adds: "Or, what's more likely, so they can lay it up and pay for the kids' tuition."

ON ISLAND, NOT VANCOUVER

From Port Alberni West Coast Advocate
The magazine section of the Vancouver Province featured an article on the transcontinental highway in which factual inaccuracy can hardly be excused as ignorance.

The highway is represented, in a map and a series of photographs, as commencing at Glace Bay and Halifax, and ending in Vancouver. Adding insult to injury the text also states that the road "gradually descends to the Pacific Coast at Vancouver, third city of Canada and western terminus of the Trans-Canada Highway."

But on the Daily Province map one is obliged to look twice to find Vancouver Island. Victoria is not even marked. Victoria can look after herself, but the Albernis are on the Trans-Canada Highway, and it is about time the Vancouver newspaper learned so. The Highway passes through Alberni on its way out past Sproat Lake to the West Coast. It has been surveyed, and the last part of the road, between Ucluelet and Tofino, is already in process of construction. The Province should know these facts.

Maybe the Province does not know them and published its article and map in good faith. But too often this paper has been guilty of entirely ignoring Vancouver Island and particularly the West Coast, as something entirely negligible, and not worth the consideration of the 300,000 people of Vancouver. Yet, a third of the total revenue of B.C. is derived from the Island. Take that away from this province and we wonder if a Daily Province would remain.

IMPATIENT FELLOWS

THE C.C.F. CAMPAIGNERS in the provincial election continue to promise that, if they ever take office in Canada, the state will control everything, for the public good. They must be rather impatient fellows. While they are promising state control as a far-off, divine event, the state is quietly controlling everything. The revolution, as usual, is getting ahead of the revolutionaries.

When people tell me that, of course, the government will walk out and leave everything uncontrolled after the war I think about the private enterprisers who, presumably, want the state to leave them alone. Instead of asking the state to leave him alone, the private enterpriser of Canada is busy today asking the state to exert one more control, to protect him.

This is inevitable as soon as the state starts controlling anything. When a barrier is placed in the way of competition, a rigidity created in the economic structure, somebody is bound to suffer. Then the state must rush in and rescue him and in the end must rescue everyone. Thus you find the state limiting the amount of gasoline sold in Canada. At once the gasoline retailers of Victoria ask the state to increase their profits by 50 per cent per gallon to cover their losses. I dare say the dealers are not socialists in most cases, but they are caught in the general process. So we whirl on and on into statism at a dizzy speed while the socialists keep promising to carry us in that direction. Thanks, but we already have a ticket. And not a return ticket exactly, by the look of it.

NO ESCAPE

IF THE GASOLINE DEALERS or any other citizens think that the state can guarantee them against losses in the war, they do not understand simple arithmetic. In the end, everyone must lose, except for a few lucky gamblers and chiselers. The state cannot guarantee businessmen against the loss which arises from a slump in their business.

The war policy of the nation is based on the expectation that this slump will occur. It is based on the expectation that less gasoline and less luxuries of every sort will be sold, so that more money can go into the war. If the money is handed back instead to the dealers in luxury products, the whole scheme defeats itself. If anything is clear in America today it is that huge segments of ordinary business are going to suffer grievously, perhaps fatally. Large industries are going out of business altogether because they cannot get materials and they will not get manpower either. Conceivably their owners can be compensated in some way, and certainly their workers will find jobs elsewhere, but the state cannot put a floor under these operations and assure them of normal profits.

When the secretary of the United States Treasury urges a limitation of all profits to 6 per cent—an unthinkable proposal from a private capitalist and banker, a program almost too radical for most socialists—you can see how far and how fast America is traveling.

FACTS, VERY DULL

CERTAIN OTHER DULL FACTS have been revealed. From Ottawa, Mr. Grant Dexter, an able observer, reports that Canada has now reached the beginning of a real labor shortage. It has long been forecast and is now arriving. We have reached the point, in fact, where we have no normal labor reserves at all. If we need more workers we must get them from among those who have never worked, and most of these are women, unmarried and married.

Mr. Dexter speaks of married women "who have never worked." Perhaps Mr. Dexter has never seen married women in their homes for it is my observation that they usually work harder than their husbands. But that is a technical objection. The important thing is that we are running short of workers and our war program is not at its peak yet by any means.

When all the factories are open, when all the machine tools are manned, we shall need many more workers. Where are they coming from? They are coming, of course, out of the nonessential occupations, and some occupations that we have considered essential. That is why the state cannot guarantee that existing business will go on as usual. It cannot go on as usual because its workers will be needed elsewhere in many cases.

But we shall find as we go along that many occupations and services considered essential in peacetime are not essential at all. Just as many people are finding that they do not have to drive their automobiles all over the country because they are bored with their own homes and as other hardy souls are finding that they can go without a drink or two or a trip to California.

The meaning of Mr. Dexter's figures is simple—we are getting into total war in Canada, without knowing it and soon we must pay for that process. We asked for it. When it comes, we cannot avoid the price that it involves, and the price touches every one of us, one way or another.

CALICO AND CATFISH

From Montgomery Advertiser

The war is curtailing the supply of certain luxuries, including caviar and silk. Due to interruption of the supply of caviar from Russia, the chief source, the roe of the sturgeon is bringing Ontario fishermen $3 a pound at the dock and retailing for $1.15 an ounce in New York. The silk market has been upset by economic warfare with Japan.

Before this war is over, we may find that we can struggle along without a lot of things that delight the lover of good living. Tastes trained to caviar and silk may get acquainted with calico and catfish before it is all over.

JAPAN AS WEATHERCOCK

The best indication of how the war in Europe is going is in what Japan does. If things are going badly for us the Japanese swing back toward the Axis. If things come our way the Nipponese begin to talk again about peace.

Japan's necessity might be described in a phrase: She must end the war on the winning side. The attempt to keep guessing which side is the more likely to win has left her dizzy and groggy.

If Hitler wins the war Japan expects to be made Sergeant-Major for East Asia. If Hitler is beaten Japan not only has to conciliate the democracies, but do so before all the thousands of surplus planes and pilots get shipped out to help sweep the Nipponese out of China.

Apart from this dilemma which must move or less keep all the Japanese statesmen guessing, another real problem is how to make the generals and the Black Dragon society face the facts of life. The more reasonable statesmen may know very well that an attempted further aggression against Russia or Siam might be the likely last step toward final military disaster. The generals might nevertheless be all for shooting the works, for death or glory, especially as it will be others who get the death but they themselves who get the glory if they win.

JAPAN CAN'T WAIT

So this seems to me the most hopeful thing on the world horizon right now: Japan cannot stall much longer, she has to make up her mind which way she is going to go.

If she finally takes the plunge and goes all out for Axis world conquest we shall have to fight the thing through, and war comes at last to all the continents.

If she sees the light and decides to make real peace with the democracies she has to be prepared to pay the price. The days of appeasement and sell-outs are over. She will have to get right out of China, and as quickly as troops can be moved. I personally think she might retain Indo-China and perhaps even Manchuria.

If Japan made final peace she could secure large shipping and supply contracts which would do something to redeem herself from the economic mess she has got herself into.

But if she chooses war—and if I am any judge—she will not only be beaten but definitely and finally liquidated as a great power. She will lose everything, including Korea, which she has held abroad. She will probably face revolution at home.

Incidentally, if Japan chooses war and not peace, the final end of the larger world struggle might be speeded up by years. Japan, I believe, could be knocked out in a matter of a few months by a combination of American, British, Chinese, Dutch and Soviet powers. Singly none can beat Japan soon. Together they would smash forever the myth of Japanese military greatness.

COWARDLY SERPENTS

From Vancouver Sun
The British House of Commons has just been informed by Ian Campbell Hannah, member for Bilston, that the Loch Ness monster has been "most patriotically reappearing the last few days."

This news makes us wonder, rather wistfully at the end of the summer, why our local monsters have not reappeared "patriotically" this year. If ever we needed Ogopogo of Okanagan and Cadborasaurus of Victoria, it is in these times when they could take our minds, for the moment, off worse monsters elsewhere. But they do not come.

When we didn't need them, when the world was at peace, you could hardly keep them off the front pages. As soon as the shooting starts they duck under water and cover in the depths, while the bolder serpent of Loch Ness is taking his chance on the surface like a true patriot.

We would not like to have this repeated before strangers, but to tell the truth about it, our local sea serpents seem to be a cowardly pair and their patriotism is subject to deep suspicion.

WEATHER CONTROL

Dr. J. Gunston (predicting a greater range of usefulness for the postwar airplane in an article in The Field of London): "It may even be possible to break up a dry spell of weather by means of aircraft. . . . It is known that vegetation gives up thousands of tons of water by transpiration. This comes from the soil and must be present in the atmosphere over the soil. Moisture is also taken up from the sea and lakes. During calm, hot, droughty periods the atmosphere must be highly charged with water. I think that if by use of aircraft large amounts of fine particles of dust could be released in the upper air after sunset, these would act as condensers of water vapor, causing it to be precipitated as rain. I believe in the ability, eventually, of scientists to control our weather."

A WORTHWHILE WAR EFFORT

From Cowichan Leader

Let us take off our hats to the fine women and men who, for these last three months, have done such splendid work in conserving fruit for war needs. There are those who gave and those who converted the gifts into jam. Whether it be devotion to duty—not to mention heat spells and peril of wasps—givers and workers deserve Cowichan's best thanks. They have set a splendid example of useful war service.

Last year, with the idea of conserving food for the use of war visitors who were expected to be staying here in considerable numbers, Mr. K. J. Oldfield got an idea and went ahead with it. A committee, headed by Mr. K. F. Duncan, resulted and a considerable amount of jam was made and stored.

This year the idea has a province-wide application under the organization of the Red Cross. Final figures will reveal that a really enormous amount of invaluable supplies has resulted. Meanwhile, all our thanks are due to those who have had or made the time to give this patriotic service.

It is evidence of what can be accomplished by a generous and self-sacrificing spirit which, shown by a few individuals, has the power to infect others and so the whole community. This is the essential for winning wars and it is even more the essential for winning and preserving that peace which may not be so near as some think.

Sir Herbert Holt Dead

Canadian Finance Czar
Once Irish Immigrant

MONTREAL (CP)—Sir Herbert Samuel Holt of Montreal, long recognized as Canada's leading financier, died at his home here Sunday after an illness of about a month. He was 85 years old.

Probably the richest man in Canada, and at various times the controlling figure in some 250 companies, Sir Herbert died quietly about 4.30 a.m. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at St. George's Anglican Church and the body will be cremated.

The man who acquired most of his eminence as a world figure in finance when he was well past 60 years, had been active in business affairs almost until the day of his death. Six months ago he donated $250,000 to the Wings for Britain Fund to buy a squadron of Spitfires.

The letter covering the cheque at this time was typical of Sir Herbert's pointed brevity of expression. In 32 words he announced the gift, told what it was for, and included a tribute to Lord Beaverbrook for what he "has done for the nation and the flying service."

CONTROLLED $2,000,000,000
At one time or another Sir Herbert and his associates were said to control companies whose assets totaled more than $2,000,000,000. Included were banks, public utilities, among them the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., insurance companies, moving-picture concerns, pulp and paper companies, flour mills, trust companies, tobacco companies, textile plants, cement works, coal, iron and steel companies and railways.

Lady Holt died in December, 1939. Sir Herbert is survived by three sons, Capt. Herbert Holt, M.C., who was invalided out of the British Army after Dunkerque and now is in the British Home Guard; Maj. Andrew Holt, in the office of the Ministry of Supply in London, and Lt. W. R. G. Holt, with the Canadian forces.

Sir Herbert was born near Dublin, Ireland, in 1856, and came to Canada when he was 19 after studying in an elementary way as an engineer.

IRISH IMMIGRANT BOY

With only a few dollars in his pocket, the Irish boy soon found work with a contractor on construction work in connection with a railway to a lumber camp in Halliburton County, Ontario. By the time he was 25 he had become superintendent of construction on the Credit Valley Railway running northwest out of Toronto.

It was while engaged in this work that Sir Herbert met William, later Sir William Mackenzie, who later became associated with him and Sir Donald Mann in railway construction, public utility and other enterprises.

It was under Herbert Holt's direction that stretches of the Canadian Pacific Railway were built in Quebec, Maine and New Brunswick in the years that followed, and he was one of the group who watched Lord Strathcona drive the last spike into the C.P.R. trans-Canada line.

Holt settled in Montreal in 1901 and interested himself in the Montreal Gas Company.

In 1908 he became president of the Royal Bank of Canada, a bank that grew to its present size under his direction. His name and prestige grew rapidly in the years to follow, and his interest swung to many other types of companies. He was made Knight Bachelor in 1915 for services to Great Britain during the war.

Sir Herbert maintained almost daily contact with his offices in the Royal Bank and Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company until he was 78 years of age, when he resigned as president of both concerns to become chairman of their boards of directors.

150 PER CENT DIVIDENDS

The huge profits made by Sir Herbert in his enterprises were defended by him when he was called as a witness before the Royal Commission presided over by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon which investigated the textile industry in 1936. Evidence had been submitted that the Dominion Textile Company, an amalgamation of a number of small cotton companies, had between 1905 and 1906 paid out $14,985,000 in dividends.

"What is your justification of directors attempting, through the protection of customs tariffs, to earn 150 per cent yearly on an investment," asked J. C. McRuer, K.C., commission counsel.

"It is the result of 31 years of good management," replied Sir Herbert, "and if you consider the original risk taken by the syndicate in investing money I think it quite right that sufficient remuneration should be earned. The influence of the customs tariff is only partial."

See New Policy
In Carter Move

HALIFAX (CP)—Speculation has been aroused here by the announcement Britain is withdrawing Rear-Admiral S. S. Bonham-Carter, chief of Royal Navy activities along the Atlantic coast, and that there will be no successor.

The United States navy is co-operating to a substantial degree in patrolling the western part of the North Atlantic. As a result there is not the same need here for a man of Bonham-Carter's status.

(Navy Minister Macdonald said at Ottawa last week the Rear-Admiral's duties will be carried out to a large extent by Commodore G. C. Jones of the Royal Canadian Navy, officer commanding on the Atlantic coast.)

The removal of the Rear-Admiral to other duties came as a climax to conjecture since President Roosevelt announced the "shoot first" policy of the American navy. His pronouncement committed the navy forces of United States to destroy any Axis warcraft found in waters lying between North America and Iceland.

It seemed obvious to observers here at that time this would remove the Royal Navy from some of the duties which had kept some of its toughest fighting ships in Canadian waters since the war began.

While 52-year-old Admiral Bonham-Carter directed operations from a yacht berthed at the R.C.N. dockyard here, such battleship as the aircraft carrier Furious, the new battleship King George V and her older sisters, Renown, Rodney, Revenge, Warspite, Malaya and others came in and dropped anchor.

British Officers Visit R.A.F. Station

Air Commodore Earle A. Godfrey, M.C., D.F.C., V.D., A.D.C., officer commanding Western Air Command, R.C.A.F., welcomes to Victoria Air Marshal A. G. R. Garrod, C.B., O.B.E., M.C., D.F.C., air member for training of the British Air Ministry

In Victoria Sunday to inspect the Royal Air Force training station at Patricia Bay, Air Marshal A. G. R. Garrod, C.B., O.B.E., M.C., D.F.C., air member for training of the British Air Ministry, was impressed by the fine manner in which Royal Air Force boys in the Dominion were being made to feel at home by the Canadian people.

Air Marshal Garrod visited here on a tour across the Dominion of training schools of the Royal Canadian Air Force as well as the Royal Air Force operating under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

He was accompanied by Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie, D.S.O., D.S.C., D.F.C., air member for training of the R.C.A.F.; Group Captain Lord Douglas-Hamilton, D.F.C., O.B.E., his aide; Group Captain G. G. Banting, second in command of the United Kingdom Air Liaison Mission at Ottawa, and Flying Officer W. R. Hamilton, aide to Air Vice-Marshal Leckie.

Group Captain Lord Douglas-Hamilton is a brother of the man on whose estate in Scotland the Nazi leader, Hess, landed in his much-talked-of flight from Germany several months ago.

After conferring with Air Commodore Earle A. Godfrey, M.C., D.F.C., V.D., A.D.C., officer commanding Western Air Command, and inspecting the offices of command headquarters in the Belmont Building, Air Marshal Garrod went to Patricia Bay where he lunched and later toured the R.A.F. station before departing for Vancouver.

"I have noticed that a great deal is being done by Canadians to entertain our men training in the Dominion," the Air Marshal said. "It is amazing the way the people are taking the men into their homes."

This was greatly appreciated, he said, and:

"We are trying to do the same with the Canadian soldiers in England and I only hope we do as well."

In answer to a question asked of how the English airmen liked Canada, Air Marshal Garrod, a dark, quietly-spoken man with an easy smile, who appeared to be in his late forties, said problems were bound to arise due to the fact that the men had come a long distance from home and found it difficult to settle down.

Problems arose from pay. The R.A.F. men in Canada were given R.C.A.F. pay but there were differences in the rates.

"This is only a minor problem though," he added.

Main problem of the men was to become accustomed to living away from home. Here they were away from the noise of war but their families were being "blitzed" in Great Britain.

"They realize that it is their duty to be in Canada though and they soon settle down," Air Marshal Garrod said.

COMPLETE TRAINING HERE

The R.A.F. training station at Patricia Bay was designed to complete the training of air crews before they were returned to the United Kingdom.

"Like all training, it is far easier and more satisfactory to give it in a country like this than on the battlefield," the Air Marshal continued.

He declined to give the size the Patricia Bay R.A.F. station would be when completed, but said it would be similar to other R.A.F. stations in Canada.

"There are a number of things I could tell you of the station which I would give my right arm to know of the enemy's undertakings," he said.

"There are many things which if made public would enable the enemy to calculate our front-line strength."

Accompanying Air Marshal Garrod was Group Captain G. G. Banting, second in command of the United Kingdom Air Liaison Mission at Ottawa, left, and Group Captain Lord Douglas-Hamilton, D.F.C., O.B.E., aide to the Air Marshal.

He did say, however, that personnel and equipment for the station were beginning to arrive and training operations should be starting in the near future.

Asked what he thought of recruiting women for the air force, Air Marshal Garrod said women were doing a magnificent work in the United Kingdom as members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force.

"This war is a contest of manpower, and when I say manpower I mean womenpower too," he said. "The only way we can get the utmost in our war effort is to use the women."

The air force women in England worked in offices, as fabric workers, instrument repairers, transport drivers, cooks, waitresses, mess workers.

"And we are trying them more and more in the skilled trades such as electric welding," Air Marshal Garrod said.

The Air Marshal flew the Atlantic on September 9 on the first leg of his tour across Canada.

"Yes, I had breakfast in Great Britain and dinner in Montreal

Soviet Children Taught
War Living at School

WASHINGTON—School children in Soviet Russia this autumn are being taught in classrooms a grim and practical science of how to stay alive in war.

German invasion made it necessary for educators in Soviet Republics to do quick conferring and plan a new program, putting vital education first, according to a report received by Soviet representatives in this country.

Since children may be lost from families or teachers in sudden attack or evacuation, Soviet pupils are all being taught to read maps and use compasses. Every pupil is required also to learn to draw plans and take measurements—important if Soviet troops need directions about Nazi troops in a village, or other local geographic information.

Basic courses in Russian schools this term teach children war's applied chemistry of how to fight poison gas, how to extinguish incendiary bombs and what they should know about war explosives.

Older pupils are getting simple lessons in using telegraphic and optical instruments for communication emergencies. They are taught elementary facts about ballistics and diesel motors, and lessons about terrain, in case they are needed to fill some vital task quickly.

The convention unanimously adopted a resolution protesting statements purported to have been made at Fort William, Ont., and printed in the Toronto Daily Star.

Society Condemns
Monkey Experiments

The following resolution was passed at the board meeting of the Victoria Anti-Vivisection Society, after attention had been drawn to a newspaper article showing exploitation of monkeys.

"That this society condemns the waste of time and money devoted to making senseless animal experiments which bring ridicule on science and the medical profession. It is regrettable that the public is constantly hoodwinked by publication of articles making pseudo-scientific and far-fetched claims concerning scientific experiments."

Public schools, it was stated, sadly over-emphasized the value of vivisection to civilization.

Celebrates 101st Birthday Here

Born three years after Queen Victoria came to the throne, Mrs. Mary Ann Marrs on Saturday celebrated her 101st birthday at the Aged Women's Home, McClure Street, where she has been a resident since 1937.

In honor of the occasion, an informal birthday party was held at the home, members of the board and staff, together with her relatives and personal friends, congratulating the venerable old lady and sharing in the special birthday cake which greeted her, together with gifts and flowers.

Mrs. Marrs was born in Port Glasgow, Scotland, on September 27, 1840. She has lived through what is perhaps the most notable century in the world's history, with its tremendous strides in transportation and communication, great social and economic revolutions and world-shaking conflicts.

Considering her great age Mrs. Marrs is extraordinarily well, but her memory is failing and she spends most of her time in her chair. Mr. Sam Marrs, McCaskill Street, is a son.

HOW "DRESSY" SHOULD IT BE?

Perhaps you don't like the word "Dressy," and indeed while these latest arrivals at Scurrahs are distinctly "Dress" Coats they certainly don't have any of that overdressed "fussy" look. Of course, they all show the new lines in collars, shoulders and backs, and among the Fur-trimmed Coats are many with the revived idea of fur-trimmed sleeves. Among the fur trimmings are to be seen several colors of fox, squirrel, wolf, Japanese and Canadian mink, opossum, with the short-hair furs predominating. ## Tells of Shortage Of Food in Eire

Speculation has been rife as to conditions in Eire at the present time so that more than ordinary interest attaches to letters received by Mrs. H. N. Hincks of Langford from a cousin, Mrs. Hamilton Oswald of Dun Laoghaire, formerly known as Kings-town, near Dublin.

Coal rationing was instituted there in July and August to two bags or five cwt. per family per month, and recently has been reduced to even less. As coal is hard to get, gas and electricity will be rationed shortly, while coal oil is impossible to obtain and candles are terribly scarce.

For months now the tea ration has been one half-ounce per person per week, Mrs. Oswald writes. Soft brown sugar is unobtainable, but some white sugar is available as "we have been manufacturing our own from beet for some time."

Corn flour and rice are very scarce, and as there is no white flour, bread is made of such substitutes as pollard oats, barley, etc., and in consequence is gritty and of an ugly brown color, and does not suit many digestions. It is impossible to make toast or bread puddings with it, housewives find. In some parts of Eire a little white flour can be obtained but costs 12 to 14 cents per pound.

Even margarine is now hard to get, while all kinds of substitutes for tea and coffee are appearing. But the writer philosophically supposes "if we were in the war we would be worse off!"

NOTED NATURALIST, author and lecturer, Dan McCowan, will give one of his fascinating illustrated lectures before the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 2.45. His subject will be "Nature's Trails in the Rockies." Members show 1941 membership tickets which may be obtained at the door before the meeting.

FROM THE WAR SAVINGS
COMMITTEE, OTTAWA

The people of Canada are the most fortunate in the world.

Fortunate in the great sweep of space that is ours from ocean to ocean.

Fortunate in the vast yield and immense resources of our forests, fields and mines.

Fortunate, too, in our democratic institutions.

In a word, fortunate in our freedom.

This freedom is threatened today as it has never been threatened before.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory.

In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort.

A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Invest in War Savings Certificates the dollars you don't need to spend. After Victory, they come back to you with interest. Spend less NOW so that you can spend more THEN, when labour and materials will be available for the things you need. There is no price too high for freedom.

The fall of the British Empire would mean complete dislocation of our unfettered way of life.

Everyone wants this way of life defended—this freedom saved—for our own future and for posterity. The response to every appeal for our defence has been magnificent—heartening to the whole Empire—alarming to Hitler.

But the need for weapons of war grows ever more urgent, as the Nazi threat spreads wider over the world.

Four Simple Regular Methods of Saving

PAYROLL SAVINGS PLAN—For salary and wage earners. The employee simply signs a Payroll Savings Pledge, turns it in to his pay office, and his employer deducts the pledged amount regularly from his pay.

BANK PLEDGE PLAN—Convenient for business men and women, and others not on a payroll. Simply sign a War Savings Bank Pledge and give it to your bank. The bank will make monthly deductions from your account.

RURAL SAVINGS PLAN—Farmers in receipt of regular payments from co-operatives, creameries, cheese factories, etc., can authorize deductions of any desired amount regularly out of each cheque. Use the Rural Pledge Card.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS—A handy instalment plan. Stamp folders may be obtained from Post Offices, Banks and many retail outlets. 16 stamps will buy one $4 Certificate, worth $5 at maturity.

SUPPORT THE WAR WEAPONS DRIVE IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Every town and city in Canada will soon conduct a War Weapons Drive. You will be asked to put all you've got behind the campaign in your community. Canada must provide more planes, more ships, more tanks, more guns, more shells. If you are already buying War Savings Certificates—raise your pledge. If you are not, get your dollars working for Victory.

Personality Is Formed In Home

Family life was important because personality was formed in the home, Dr. Katharine Taylor, director of family life education in Seattle public schools, told delegates to the Greater Victoria Welfare Conference at the Empress Hotel Saturday.

"If the parent-child relationships work smoothly," Dr. Taylor said, "so will every other relationship."

The personal growth of the child came first, Dr. Taylor stressed. Education was a secondary consideration.

She advocated joint discussions of child problems by teachers, parents and the children themselves. It had been proved, she said, that most difficulties could be cleared up by these meetings.

Referring to the adolescent period, she said the child must develop an emotional emancipation from his parents at this time. Security was important, too, and he must be able to consider himself part of a group. Another factor which contributed to his welfare in later life was his adjustment to the opposite sex during this period.

Dr. F. M. Bryant told delegates members of the low income group should receive medical care through group health insurance. He also advocated the setting up of diagnostic services.

Dr. Bryant pointed out that by the payment of a small fee this group could receive adequate care without being made to feel themselves charity cases.

Mrs. Kenneth McAllister said that 25 per cent of the population were unable to pay for medical services.

Many persons hesitated to consult a doctor until seriously ill. As a result the government frequently had to care for them for the remainder of their lives. Such cases, she said, predisposed other social problems.

Far more prevalent than maternal deaths, Dr. A. B. Nash said, was the crippling of women through childbirth.

Dr. Nash said both evils could be overcome if expectant mothers would consult a doctor.

Other causes of illness and death during this period were insufficient examinations by physicians and failure of the doctor to warn his patient of symptoms which may occur.

Stressing the need for early consultations, Dr. Nash said that on this continent the geographic factor as well as the economic entered into the reason why early care was postponed.

"Services of expert consultants," Dr. Nash said, "should be provided by the state. I believe that in this way maternal deaths could be reduced by 25 per cent."

Dr. J. L. Gayton and J. R. Scooby presided at the round-table discussions which took place after these talks.

Sulfa May Replace Quinine in Malaria

CHICAGO — The sulfa drugs may free the Americas from dependence on non-American sources of that strategic medicinal chemical, quinine, for the treatment of malaria.

This is one important, though unstated, conclusion to be drawn from a report by Dr. L. T. Coggeshall and Dr. John Maier of New York, and Major C. A. Best, U.S. Army Medical Corps, in the forthcoming issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association here.

Promin and sulfadiazine, two of the newest sulfa drugs, may be regarded as "important substitutes" for quinine or atabrine in treatment of malaria, these scientists state as a result of studies made jointly by the Rockefeller Foundation International Health Division and the Gorgas Hospital, Canal Zone, Panama.

These two remedies were used to treat 30 malaria patients, both native and foreign residents of Panama. Promin was definitely effective in 17 cases, and sulfadiazine was effective in 10 out of 13 cases.

"It should be emphasized," the three doctors state, "that at present there are no reasons for giving the drugs in preference to quinine or atabrine for the treatment of malaria, and they should be regarded only as important substitutes."

The drugs may become vitally important substitutes, it appears, though the scientists do not mention this, in the event that the world's supply of quinine from the Dutch East Indies is cut off by war and present domestic stockpiles are exhausted.

Further study of the drugs as malaria remedies is suggested. Better anti-malaria drugs than either quinine or atabrine are needed, scientists have long known. Although of great importance to the person with an acute attack of malaria, neither of these drugs can be relied on to

Orangemen Star War Relief Fund

The drive of Orangemen of Canada resulted in $12,400 being raised for the purchase of four fully equipped mobile kitchens. One was sent to northern Ireland, one to Scotland and two to England. These are being used wherever necessary in bombed areas, and have been doing excellent work for some time.

The drive is now being followed by another effort to be known as the Orange War Relief Fund. The G.O.L. of Canada bears all the expenses in connection with the fund, so the total amount received is forwarded in full. With this in view the Orangemen and Orange-women of Victoria have combined forces and have formed a committee to raise funds. At present the committee have plans made for a "country fair" to be held in the Orange Hall October 10. This will include an auction of fruit and vegetables, a table of home cooking, preserves, etc. and games and contests on the side.

Donations, either cash or produce, etc., will be gratefully accepted. These can be sent to the Orange Hall.

FIRST ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL

The Victoria Photographic Association, after months of careful planning and executive work will open the first annual International Victoria Salon of Photography on Oct. 20.

Correspondence has been received from all over the world and there are well over 400 entries from all parts of the U.S.A., Honolulu, Hongkong, eastern Canada. Prints range in size from 8 ft. by 10 ft. to 16 ft. by 20 ft. with a decided tendency toward the larger prints. Many different processes are represented in the collection.

Current issue of the magazine Coronet contains a reproduction of one of the entries, a portrait of an aged Indian woman, titled "Earliest American" by Isadore Berger of Detroit. This is one of four prints entered by Mr. Berger.

Judges for the exhibition will be Jack Shadbolt, H. G. Cox and Horace Tyack.

remove the germs completely from the patient's blood. Neither have they true preventive action, although when taken in advance of the bite of an infected mosquito, they temporarily suppress an attack of malaria. It may be that some as yet untried or undiscovered sulfa drug will prove a better anti-malaria than any chemicals now available.

'King of Hoboes' Trying to Join 'Princess Pats'

WINNIPEG (CP)—One of North America's leading "bums" is in Winnipeg waiting to hear the results of a final medical examination to determine whether he can enlist with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry of Canada's active army.

He is J. Leon Lazarowitz, national president of the Rambling Hobo Fellowship of America and self-styled "King of the Hoboes."

When the 35-year-old hobo decided to join the Canadian army, he wrote as a United States citizen to President Roosevelt asking for permission and he says a permit signed by the chief executive himself came back by air mail.

Lazarowitz applied to P. W. McNabb, recruiting officer at Gretna, Man., got an "A" rating on his preliminary medical test, then came to Winnipeg.

He is national editor of Hobo News, a monthly publication he said is banned in Germany since he sent Adolf Hitler a telegram last winter saying: "You Nazi hooligans have no right to live. Do us American hoboes a favor and die. We hate you and your kind."

Air Raids to Grow

MONTREAL (CP)—British air raids over Germany and German-occupied areas will increase in both number and intensity as the long wintry nights begin to settle over Europe, Wing-Commander Gordon C. McGregor, D.F.C., of Montreal, said here.

"Summer is the most trying time for our bombers," he said, "because they usually travel three times the distance the Nazis do to reach their objectives. With double daylight saving time, it only gets really dark by 11 o'clock, and hours of complete darkness are too few for any long excursions."

This, he continued, is the reason that news of British bombing has fallen off lately.

Buried With Soldier

CAIRO (AP)—An American Confederate flag, carried into battle in Syria by an Australian soldier who admired the lost cause it stood for, now lies buried with him in the rugged hills near Djezzine.

Friends of Pte. Christopher Moody Walker of Melbourne, killed in action, said he had carried the silken stars and bars in his pocket.

Strange Hotel

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN (CP)—Tucked away in this picturesque spot in north Britain is the country's strangest hotel—home of the Atlantic ferry airmen while they await a return flight after bringing bombers to Britain.

Here you meet keen-eyed young Americans, veterans of the world's skyways, ace British distance pilots, Canadians filled with stories of "bush flying" in the north.

It has about the fastest-changing "guest list" of any hotel, and the most nonchalant.

At the bar or in the lounge over tea—to which the Americans have now become reconciled—you encounter such airmen as Earl Ortman, famous American racing pilot, Carl Ross, who has flown all over Canada and in the Spanish war, Vic Stack, diminutive native of Syracuse, N.Y.

Their talk is "shop"—not about war or ferrying, but flying in general. Listen in to a conversation and you learn of the time so-and-so landed in Albuquerque, the difficulties of finding Midway Island in the Pacific, the beef-steak served in that place in the New Orleans French quarter.

Their greatest bore is the fellow who has just completed his first crossing and wants to tell all about it.

They got into ferrying through desire for something new in aviation and because of the good money.

The souvenir habit has claimed a few victims among them. G. R. Buxton, veteran Imperial Airways pilot, carries a dollar bill which distinguished passengers autograph for him.

Radio operators are mostly Canadians. One of the oldest is rollicking R. A. (Pop) Campbell of Rock Springs, Ont. Pop, who says he is 44, was in the naval radio service in the last war.

MOVIE 'COP' HURT — They laughed when he chased George Formby in a motordrome in the movie "Spare a Copper." But when he sat down in an R.C.A.F. plane that took an unexpected drop near Brantford, Ont., and broke his ankle it was no joke for L.A.C. J. H. M. McDonnell. McDonnell was the "cop" in the Formby movie that saw George in hairbreadth adventures in a midget car.

BADER AT FIRST 'GREEN WITH FUNK'

LONDON (CP)—Wing Cmdr. Douglas Bader, the stout-hearted Briton who formerly led the R.A.F.'s Canadian fighter squadron, was "green with funk" when he shot down his first German airplane.

After accounting for a Dornier, he told his mother, Mrs. Ernest Hobbs: "Shooting down men for the first time is a horrible experience. I looked in my mirror. I couldn't believe it was me. I was green with funk."

The story was told in an interview with Bader's mother in the Daily Mail after the legless ace had been shot down himself and taken prisoner in a sweep over northern France.

(It was learned yesterday Sgt. Pilot Jack Nickelson, 19-year-old Toronto flier, piloted a Blenheim bomber which dropped metal legs for Bader to replace those the British ace broke when he landed on enemy territory.)

(The information was contained in a letter from Sgt. Pilot Nickelson, now reported missing and believed dead, to his brother, Allan, a member of the Canadian Press staff in New York. The young flier said in his letter, dated August 30, that "it was my plane that dropped them.")

Ten years ago Mrs. Bader painstakingly taught her son to walk on what he called his "tin pins" after losing both legs in an air crash.

"I knew he must learn again the very fundamentals of living," Mrs. Hobbs told the interviewer.

"Never for one second did I think of him, or allow him to think of himself, as a disabled man."

Through his long convalescence she was always with him. He learned to drive a car, to fly again, to dance, to play golf and even tennis.

When war came he volunteered for flying duties with the R.A.F. and his enthusiasm and persistence wore down official opposition.

When Bader went to Buckingham Palace last February to be decorated by the King, His Majesty said, "I and my great Empire are very proud of you. Well done."

Dodgers Celebrate Victory

There was enthusiasm of the genuine Flatbush variety in the Brooklyn clubhouse at Boston, celebrating the Dodgers' win over the Braves, which clinched the National League pennant for the Brooklynites. The Dodgers will open the world series against the New York Yankees Wednesday. In the above picture Leo Durocher, fiery manager of the Dodgers, is second from left in the front row.

By JIM KEARNEY

THE James Bay Lacrosse Club holds the coast intermediate championship and is roosting atop the heap in this section primarily because of one thing—condition.

The Vancouver Flyers, the only team that has really given the Bays manual labor in the playoffs, lost out because they didn't have the stamina to keep pace with the Victoria crew in the final minutes of the two games that decided the title.

In both games Flyers battled on even terms with the Bays for three quarters. In both games they went out like a candle in the final 15 minutes. In the first fixture Bays led 12 to 8 at the three-quarter mark, not too substantial a lead in boxla, then roared into the final quarter to slam the door of victory in the faces of the Flyers and romp home with a 19 to 10 win. In the second fixture they repeated the process, turning a scary 6 to 6 tie into a 10 to 6 rout in the final session.

The reason? The Bays were playing as fast in the last quarter as they were in the first quarter while the mainlanders had a hard time speeding up beyond a jog. The Victoria boys had the power to crash through and speed around the Flyer defence.

Ted Menzies announced Saturday afternoon that to officially win the B.C. title, his team would have to eliminate the interior titlists of Salmon Arm. He also disclosed that he would rather not play the games in this city. He would like to take his boys up to the hamlet on the edge of the Okanagan to let them have their fun. This chronicler at one time lived in the pride of the Shuswap district, Salmon Arm, and from what he says there and from what various residents have informed him in the interim, the lacrosse played there is not polished.

But the interior lads make up for their lack of stick handling with rugged play. If they can't get through the opposing defence by smart play they make equally sure their own backline is not permitted and they don't care how they bring this about. "Truck" Macdonald, former Adanac star who played part of this season for the Alerts, performed for one season in the Okanagan league. He gives a tip-off on the method of play in the back country with the words, "I was slugged on my cranium by opposing sticks seven times in one game." Macdonald also testifies the lads up there wear head gear and masks. They expect the worse and are ready and willing.

Poor Max Turner. Big "Jumbo" played in Victoria during the greater part of the season for the Alerts, a team that was never able to beat the Bays. He ended up the year with Vancouver Flyers and earlier this week anticipated great personal happiness. He was sure the mainlanders would take the Bays. In fact that was the main reason he played for them. But the Vancouver team did not come through.

From Menzies comes a personal message to three great boys. He asked that his thanks be expressed through this medium to Carl and Andy Ovcharick and Norman Coates, three Alert players, who turned out for him in the finals and lent impetus to the defeat of the Flyers. "They played grand games," quoth Ted, "and I want them to know that their services were really appreciated by myself and the boys on the team. I'll be using them if we play Salmon Arm and if our challenge to Richmond is accepted by that club."

R.A.F. Cricketers Win Match Easily

R.A.F. cricketers sent a combined Five C's-Albion team down to defeat Saturday afternoon by a 123 to 37 score. Corporal Thorner was again the siege gun in the air force team, scoring 51 runs in just under 20 minutes.

The local team batted first and lost a wicket in the second over, Beach making a splendid catch to dismiss E. D. Freeman from a hard return. The second, third and fourth wickets fell at 21 and from there on the game was just a formality.

The R.A.F. started shakily, losing the first four wickets for 30 runs. However, Thorner's 51 and good succeeding scores soon made the game a rout.

The two teams will play a return match Saturday at Beacon Hill.

Grizzlies Take Bad Drubbing

REGINA (CP) — The Regina Roughriders were back in a tie with the champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers today at the top of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The Roughriders shot back to the top of the conference standing with a 22 to 2 victory over the Vancouver Grizzlies here Saturday night before a small crowd. The Grizzlies virtually lost all chance of reaching the playoffs. The Roughriders and Blue Bombers have six points apiece, while the Grizzlies trail with only two points and only two games to play.

The Reginaans got down to business and piled up an early lead, with Toar Springstein, 250-pound lineman, booting two of his three field goals in the first quarter, along with a kick to deadline by Norm Geller. The major scores came in the second and fourth.

For the first touchdown, the

West's Beat R.A.F.

Although losing in an exhibition game with the Victoria West foot-ballers at Sidney, Sunday afternoon, a team from the R.A.F. let it be known that it would be a threat in the Victoria and District League which opens next month.

The Wests edged out the English air force lads 2 to 1 and had no easy time doing it. Their opponents featured a smart, short passing and accurate game and might have put a different complexion on the score had it not been for the strong West defence. Bolstered by Glen Robbins, former United player, it managed to break up R.A.F. attacks before they became really dangerous.

At half-time there was no score and it wasn't until about 10 minutes after this mark that Doug Gent scored for the Wests with a long twisting shot from outside the penalty area. After another 10 minutes Allan Reside tallied a terrific shot on a cross from Alec Dallimore.

The air force lads got their goal on a penalty shot given against Gent.

Roughriders pulled a sleeper pass and Charlie March, standing by the sidelines, took Caprari's toss to walk over the goal line.

For the second major score, Ken Charlton lined a fast pass to Steve Molnar, who took the ball in his stride and sprinted 15 yards for the score before the Grizzlies realized who had the ball. Springstein converted for his 10th point of the night. His total included a field goal in the fourth quarter.

Williams Bats .406

Crashes Six Hits

BOSTON (AP)—Way back in 1894 the greatest hitter of all time refused to back into the batting championship. Today his favorite pupil has won the American League batting title with a .406 average because he listened to the master.

The greatest swatsmith, of course, was little Hugh Duffy, who fashioned that eternal .438 average the hard way. They wanted Hughie to quit to protect his tremendous mark, but the "Duff" said "No," and went up and took his cuts. He didn't hurt the average.

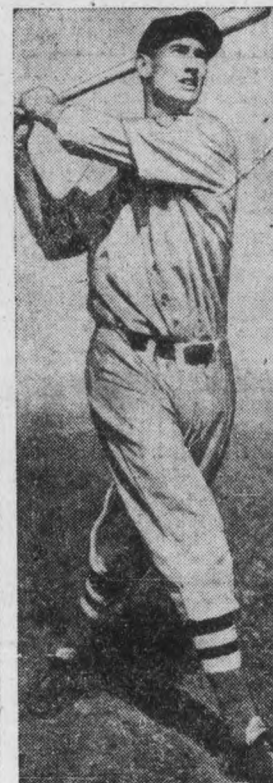

Ted Williams, the willowy wallpaper of the Red Sox and the pride and joy of that same Duffy, boasted a .405 average as the Boston team pulled into Philadelphia for the final three games of the year.

Sane voices told Ted to sit the rest of it out. He was home free with .405 and he'd be the first American leaguer to do it since Larry Heilmann fashioned a .403 average in 1923. In fact, he'd be the first big leaguer to turn the trick since Bill Terry hit .401 in 1930.

Hugh isn't the kind of guy who'll settle for a tie. It's a safe bet that what he told Ted in substance was:

"Look, kid, if you do this, you'll do it right. Go up there and take your cuts. If you miss, you don't deserve it."

Ted went up Saturday and man-

aged to eke out one hit in four trips. His average zoomed below .400 for the first time since July 25. The future was black—for everyone but Ted Williams and Hugh Duffy.

Yesterday there was a double-header and Ted stepped to the plate for the first time. He belted one out and it was a hit. That happened four times in a row and only a very ponderous decision by the scorer robbed him of the fifth. Four for five is good batting in any game.

The second tilt started. Ted collected two for three in that one. It was six for eight altogether and the average rushed up from that .39955 to .406.

Joan Langdon of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club swam the 300-yard individual medley for senior women in 4:16 5/10, cutting 4 5/10 seconds from her own record which she established here March 1, 1939.

Miss Langdon also won the 100 yards freestyle for senior women in 1:08 3/5, beating Macrina Booth of Victoria Y.M.C.A.

Johnston was second to Bob Montgomery of Victoria Y.M.C.A., in the 100 yards freestyle for junior boys and to Hugh Reston, also of the Victoria Club, in the 200 yards freestyle for senior men.

Besides winning the 100 yards freestyle Montgomery also won the 50 yards backstroke and 50 yards breaststroke for junior boys.

Ward, Black End Match All Square

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bud Ward, United States amateur golf champion from Spokane, Wash., and Kenny Black, Vancouver's Canadian amateur titlist, ended all square in an 18-hole "unofficial North American championship" international exhibition match here Sunday.

The match attracted a gallery of 1,500, despite a rain and realized close to $1,500 for the Queen's Canadian War Fund.

After the third hole, which he won with an eagle three, Ward led most of the way up to the last green where Black, after fighting up hill, rammed down a six-foot putt for a birdie four to square the match play exhibition.

Black scrambled all over the course on the first nine, hitting but five greens in par figures to Ward's eight, but sank his putts for a one-under par 36. Ward had a two under 35.

On the home nine the match settled down to a struggle with Ward hitting beautiful shots and Black fighting to keep in the battle.

Ward confessed after the match that he should have been at least five under par and attributed his higher score to a faulty putter. Ward got a great ovation on the final green when he grinned, "All-square, that's the way it should have ended."

Louis Still Holds Odds At 13 to 5

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis of the blasting fists, and Lou Nova, a rugged, courageous specimen from California, clash at 7 p.m., P.S.T., tonight at the Polo Grounds in a 15-round heavyweight championship fight that promises to leave 60,000 spectators limp.

This is one battle that scarcely can miss. Opinion is divided sharply on the probable winner, but there seems no doubt in anyone's mind that it will be a spectacular engagement while it lasts.

This is one of the few times the big negro has met a man his equal in physical equipment, fighting heart and absolute confidence since he won the title from Jim Braddock in 1937.

Nova belongs in there tonight on his record. He knocked out Max Baer twice, among other things, and had Tommy Farr on the verge of a knockout in the closing rounds of their scrap. Only shortly before Tommy had breezed 15 rounds against Louis.

The one time Nova ever was beaten as a professional was the night he climbed into the ring, a sick man, against Tony Galento in Philadelphia. He got it good that night, with what his illness and Tony's rough tactics.

"But I learned something that night," he says now. "I thought I could whip any man in the world, even if I was half-sick. I know now that it can't be done. This time I'm in the most perfect physical condition of my life, and I won't miff the chance."

The bookmakers do not share Nova's confidence. At last check-up they were offering a bonus of 13 to 5 that he catches a licking.

Tale of the tape on the fighters follows:

Oscar Vitt Resigns

OAKLAND, Cal. (AP)—Oscar Vitt disclosed Saturday he had resigned as manager of the Portland Baseball Club which finished in the cellar position of the Coast League this season.

Vitt said that if the Portland club had had a few more replacements—the club roster contained only 17 men—it probably could have finished well up in the first division.

Vitt's contract was on a year-to-year basis. He said he had no plans for the immediate future.

TIMES BOWLING LEAGUE

Against Beer Going Abroad

VANCOUVER (CP)—A petition to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, signed by members of the congregation of First United Church, which asked "that the shipping of Canadian beer overseas be stopped, and that no such shipments be allowed to interfere with shipments of essential food and supplies," was read from the pulpit last night by Rev. Andrew Roddan.

In his sermon Mr. Roddan said "it is not a time for special interests to be set aside for their products. If these interests are so concerned about the welfare of the men, as they say they are, they would charter a ship of their own, send the liquor overseas and give it to the men free, and not ask for the benefits and privileges of a convoy."

"That soldiers shall or shall not have beer is not the question," the minister said. "But that not one inch of space be taken up in ships in furthering the interests of the liquor companies when Britain is so badly in need of goods."

Germans Seek To Split U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—A psychologist reported today a major aim of German short-wave broadcasts to the United States is to split the American people into warring groups at home.

Seeking to drive a wedge between various groups, said Dr. Jerome S. Bruner of Harvard University, the German broadcasters attempted "to turn the American people against their leaders, Gentiles against Jews, lower class against upper, the country against New York and Wall Street, America against Britain, the people against alien refugees. Isolationists against interventionists, newspaper readers against the press."

Bruner, who made a detailed analysis of German broadcasts to the United States during the first half of 1940, reported in the Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology that German broadcast casts have changed since that time.

The psychologist now is analyzing foreign propaganda broadcasts for the federal communications commission.

Twins From Comox Now in England

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Bakers by trade and musicians and entertainers in their spare time, Ray and Art Dallimore, 30-year-old twin privates from Vancouver, have arrived in England with the 3rd Division. Ray, who plays the piano accordion, and Art, who plays the banjo, are cooks at headquarters of a British Columbia infantry battalion.

They have given shows in almost all the large cities across Canada and shortly before leaving for England performed for troops at Truro, N.S.

When they arrived in this country they were hunted down by newspaper photographers and their pictures appeared in British papers beside those of another set of twins in the unit, Ptes. H. D. and N. D. Turnbull of Comox, B.C.

Lieut. Gerry Andrews of Victoria, former air survey engineer in the forestry department in British Columbia, and now on the survey staff of corps headquarters, has been promoted to captain. His last job in Canada before joining the army was surveying by air a proposed route for the British Columbia-Alaska highway.

Wounded 'Tommies' Going Home

BERNE (AP)—A train bearing 300 British wounded crossed Switzerland from Germany today en route to a French port where they will be put aboard a British hospital ship for home.

The British vessel is bringing wounded German captives to a French port for an exchange of seriously-wounded prisoners under a plan by which Switzerland has agreed to act as a transport intermediary.

The Swiss are providing a 22-car hospital train with physicians and nurses, a service Switzerland also performed in the last war. In all, about 1,150 British wounded are expected to be taken to French ports.

Talked for Britain

LONDON (CP)—The Free Belgian agency says a Belgian railway at Antwerp was fined £20 ($90) for calling the Germans Boches and saying Great Britain would win the war.

THE GIRL FRIEND—Ginger Rogers in a new comedy role in "Tom, Dick and Harry," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Baseball Wind-up

Many Fine Feats

Except for the little matter of the World Series, the big league baseball season ended yesterday. After 1,231 ball games (it would have been 1,232 but for that St. Louis Cardinal-New York Giant tie) young Gus H. Fan or Phineas T. Fox, should know something about the national pastime, year of 1941.

How much? That's what we're out to prove. The following questions will hit some of the year's high spots. Score yourself five points for each one answered correctly, and when it's all over you can shout "bingo."

1. Who is the American League's sixth 400-hitter, what was his final average, and who were his predecessors in this august group?
2. How many 20-game winning pitchers were there in the majors this year? Name them. How many also won 20 or more in 1940?

3. Identify (a) Eddie Beazley; (b) Dave Koslo; (c) Bill Clemensen; (d) Bob Chipman.

4. Name the National and American League rookie pitchers who won 19 games each this season.

5. On what date did (a) New York Yankees and (b) Brooklyn Dodgers clinch their pennants; how many games in front were they in the final standings?

6. Who pitched the year's only no-hit game, and what effect did it have on the league standing?

7. Which team set a new league record for double plays and also tied the all-time major league mark? When did they do it?

8. Which American League pitcher made the season's most notable comeback after selling his club president on just that bill of goods?

9. Who are the unofficial batting champions, and whom did they succeed? Who are the home-run kings? Runs-batted-in leaders?

10. On what day of the season was the order of finish in the American League decided?

THE ANSWERS
And here (stop peeking) are your answers:
1. Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox, .406; Nap Lajoie, Ty Cobb, George Sisler, Joe Jackson, Harry Heilmann.

2. Four; Wyatt and Kirby Higbe, 22 each for the Dodgers in the National; Bob Feller, 25 for Cleveland Indians; Thornton Lee, 22 for Chicago White Sox. Feller, apiece.

ERSKINE HAWKINS arrived here this afternoon with his band of 17 "Killer-dillers," who will appear tonight at the Shrine Auditorium, to give a local audience four hours of dancing to their torrid rhythm. The box office at the Shrine Auditorium will open at 7.30, with the doors opening at 8 and dancing starting at 8.30.

ASKEY STARRED IN 'GHOST TRAIN'

Filmgoers who have been delighted by the realistic and humorous Cockney roles portrayed by Kathleen Harrison, may be surprised to know that she is actually a "lassie from Lancashire"—she was born in Blackburn in 1903.

But it is with her inimitable Cockney characterizations that she has become popular, and in "The Ghost Train," which, starring Arthur Askey and Richard Murdoch, now showing at the Oak Bay Theatre, she gives one of the finest examples of this kind of role as Miss Bourne, the Cockney spinster.

JEROME KERN TUNES IN FILM 'SUNNY'

Featuring four memorable Jerome Kern tunes along with its spectacular dance numbers and sparkling romantic plot, "Sunny" is being hailed as Anna Neagle's most delightful musical vehicle, now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

The RKO Radio film was produced and directed by Herbert Wilcox and includes such well-known melodies as "Who?", "Sunny," "D'ya Love Me?" and "Two Little Bluebirds."

'CRAIG'S WIFE' IS PRIZE PLAY

"Craig's Wife," Columbia's picture of George Kelly's Pulitzer Prize Play, opened today at the York Theatre with Rosalind Russell and John Boles in the stellar roles. It is the story of a coldly practical wife who tangles with romance and comes out second best.

Featured in the film are Billie Burke, Jane Darwell, Dorothy Wilson, Alma Kruger, Thomas Mitchell, Raymond Walburn and Robert Allen.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The hectic adventures of a madcap telephone girl who deliberately allows herself to become affianced to three different boy friends at the same time, are said to make for delightful comedy in Ginger Rogers' current RKO Radio vehicle, "Tom, Dick and Harry," now at the Capitol Theatre. George Murphy, Alan Marshall and Burgess Meredith have the male leads.

'I AM THE LAW' OPENS AT RIO

The "Little Caesar of Gangland," Edward G. Robinson, who in the past has always portrayed the part of number one man of the underworld, has turned over a new leaf, and in the picture "I Am the Law," which opens at the Rio Theatre today, he plays the role of district attorney. His past experiences with racketeers stands him in good stead, and he uses their methods in eradicating corruption in the big city. Co-starred with Robinson in "I Am the Law" are Wendy Barrie and Otto Kruger.

Seven thousand acres of the Sledmore estate in Yorkshire, home of a famous bloodstock stud, has been placed on sale. Sir Richard Sykes, present owner, said the stud and the family home were not included in the sale. One of the horses produced by the stud was Scottish Union, second in the 2,000 Guineas in 1938, second in the Derby and winner of the St. Leger.

Gordon Richards, 37-year-old jockey who broke a leg in a spill last spring, may be able to return to the saddle before the racing season closes. Although the lower part of his limb is still encased in a cast, doctors have given him permission to mount a horse if he feels like having a canter to keep in trim for active work on the turf.

Who the men and women are behind the forbidden station, how they came into being, how they risk their lives nightly to broadcast their messages of courage, how they avoid pitfall after pitfall, all this and more is thrillingly related in the film.

GEORGE FORMBY AT HIS FUNNIEST

This week's attraction at the Cadet Theatre is the very thing to relieve the present gloom. It is the latest Ealing production, "Come on George," and presents George in a veritable feast of entertainment.

The recommendation was made by Charles B. Sears, retired Buffalo judge, who presided as a special immigration service inspector at a 10-week hearing in San Francisco to determine whether Bridges was deportable under the immigration laws.

Ottawa Relieves Gas Shortage

Ottawa relieved the gasoline shortage today.

As more than 50 per cent of Victoria's service stations ran dry word came from Oil Controller G. R. Cottrell that he has authorized gasoline companies to deliver additional supplies of gasoline today and tomorrow to stations where shortages exist. The additional deliveries are not to exceed 5 per cent of actual September deliveries.

Mr. Cottrell said retailers had not properly rationed September allotments and that he had been advised a critical situation existed regarding gasoline supplies for essential uses.

Local oil distributors were advised of the order by telegram today and immediately got in touch with their dealers who had dry tanks.

FOR ESSENTIAL SERVICES

Company officials said, however, they were not delivering the extra 5 per cent indiscriminately. In the main it was to take care of essential services like commercial accounts, doctors, nurses, police, school teachers and similar persons to whom cars are essential.

Before this authorization came Victoria was not entirely out of gas but nowhere could a motorist drive in and say "fill 'er up."

In the stations that still had gasoline a strange customer might get one gallon or nothing, a regular customer three, or possibly five gallons if his tank was very low.

The gas famine, plus bad weather, restricted Sunday driving to a bare minimum. There was little if any week-end joy-riding.

Gas station operators reported that the gasless month-end had wakened many of their customers up to the fact that the federal controller really meant it when he appealed for the use of less gasoline.

"In the last few days I've noticed a much readier feeling among the motorists to co-operate," said one operator.

"Up to now some people have got quite huffy when we had to restrict them. Now they come up with the request: 'How many can I have?'"

Meanwhile station operators were working out what the new October quotas laid down by Controller G. R. Cottrell will mean to them.

Some said they would have just about as much gas as they had in September. To others, who enjoyed big tourist trade in July the new scheme would mean a large reduction. All agreed there will be less gas next month.

All meetings will open at 8.

Books Guests for '42

"One of the best seasons we have had in many years," commented J. J. Meredith, manager of Lake Louise Chateau, on the great volume of tourist business handled at the Canadian Pacific mountain resorts.

Mr. Meredith is back in Victoria today to take over the acting management of the Empress Hotel during absence on holiday of J. K. Hodges.

He is accompanied by Mrs. Meredith and expects to remain a month.

Westward travel was very pronounced this summer, with United States visitors predominating.

"I should say 90 per cent of our visitors at Lake Louise this season were Americans," said Mr. Meredith.

Indicating a big 1942 season, he added: "Reservations have already been made for next year."

TOWN TOPICS

A meeting of the Victoria branch of the Poultry Producers' Association will be held tomorrow night at 8 in the Y.M.C.A. George I. Brown of Montreal, secretary of the Canadian Produce Association, will speak on condition of the export market, and show the film "A Million Dollar Industry," which depicts the latest developments in the methods of production and marketing of poultry products.

Judgment for $89.15 special, and $25 general damages was granted by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today on the claim of Allan Patrick Mulcahy against O. Maynard Lemon. Mulcahy claimed for injuries sustained in a collision between himself on a bicycle and Lemon in a car on Garbally Road, June 27. Carew Martin appeared for the plaintiff and Stuart Henderson for the defendant.

Co-ordinate Work On Delinquents

A central committee to co-ordinate the work of separate organizations dealing with juvenile delinquency was advocated by H. S. Hurn, principal of Victoria West School, in an address to the Greater Victoria Welfare Conference Saturday.

"I do not want to mislead you by using the word 'crime,'" Mr. Hurn said, "but, after all, this tackling of delinquency is a definite form of crime prevention. This central body could, and would, exercise a considerable influence in crime prevention."

He pointed out that potential delinquency appeared often during the elementary school period. When it did, it affected the city as a whole.

Mr. Hurn said that with the aid of the school nurse or the truant officer, efforts were made within the school to deal with cases of maladjustment to the curriculum, truancy and lack of home co-operation.

Dealing with delinquent cases, however, required a highly specialized training. There should be, he suggested, one or more properly-trained "visiting teachers" whose duty would be to establish, with the assistance of the central committee, the right atmosphere between parent, child and anyone else connected directly with the case.

The schools, he said, were in a strategic position and should share in the work of the central body, or of the various agencies where no central body existed. At the same time he urged a better understanding of the problems of delinquent children on the part of the public.

Jewish People Observe 'Yom Kippur'

Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, holiest day in the calendar of the Jew, will be ushered in at sundown Tuesday and will continue until sundown Wednesday.

Services will commence with Kol Nidre at 7, Tuesday night at the Synagogue Emanu-El, Blanchard and Pandora Streets.

On Wednesday all Jews observe this holiday by praying and fasting.

Rabbi Irwin Isaacson of New York will officiate. His sermon for Kol Nidre will be "A Message for Unity," and for Tuesday, Yom Kippur day, will be "The Significance of the Memorial Service."

All Jewish men in the forces are invited to attend.

Claims Men at Sea Are Denied Vote

Kenneth McAllister, on behalf of the Victoria elections committee of the C.C.F., today charged that naval men stationed here who were at sea during the enumeration of voters had not been registered and would be denied their franchise at the coming provincial election.

Mr. McAllister made public a letter he sent to the provincial returning officer, in which he said:

"If this is the case, and I believe it to be so, particularly after discussing it with some of the men involved, it is quite intolerable and should be remedied at once."

Lord Mayor's Fund Passes $50,000

Victoria's contributions to the Lord Mayor of London's Fund for air raid victims passed the $50,000 mark last week with the sending of another $4,112 to the British metropolises.

The sum included $2,000 from the Kinsmen's car contest and another $540 from the Shrine Band.

Altogether $50,042 has been sent from the city since the fund was opened here.

Clocks Put Back

Nobody Reported Early for Work

British Columbia went back to standard time at the weekend, but so far as could be discovered no one in Victoria reported for work an hour early this morning through failure to put the clock back.

Legally clocks went back at midnight Saturday, and weekend dancers got in an extra hour of tripping. Numbers of people worked out special ways, however, of enjoying the recovery of the lost hour to the full.

Probably the favorite was to leave the clock on daylight time until this morning.

Then, when the alarm went off at 7, it was a real pleasure to turn the hands back to 6, roll over again and enjoy the extra hour.

"There wouldn't have been much fun doing that Sunday morning. But, oh boy, was it worth it this morning," said one man who tried it this way.

All boats and trains, radio programs and other operations that run on close time schedules were back to standard today.

A few of the downtown business house clocks were not changed back until this morning.

The biggest joke was the clock in the Legislative Chamber at the Parliament Buildings. For the first six weeks of daylight saving this clock slogged along one hour behind until finally some official decided to set it right. Today when other clocks were back to standard it was registering one hour ahead.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST

The special services held at First Baptist Church Sunday in observance of the 50th anniversary of the church were largely attended.

The rededication sermon Sunday morning was delivered by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, who spoke on "The Joy of Achievement."

The music was a special feature. The choir sang "Prayer of Thanksgiving," and the solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," was rendered by Ralph McAdam.

The minister, Rev. G. A. Reynolds who, incidentally, is celebrating the 11th anniversary of his pastorate, preached at the evening service on "Remember All the Way the Lord Hath Led Us."

The ordinance of baptism was administered to six candidates at the evening service.

The choir contributed "Song of Gratitude," "Dear Land of Home," "O Worship the King," "Bless This House," male quartette, and the "23rd Psalm" was sung by Mrs. R. Miller.

An interesting ceremony will be held Wednesday evening at 6.30 when the first mortgage will be burned at a banquet held in the church hall, charter members assisting in the ceremonies.

Fifteen members formed the initial congregation of the first Baptist Church organized in Victoria May 31, 1876. The congregation now worships in the commodious church on Quadra Street.

War Guest Leader To Visit Victoria

Geoffrey Shakespeare, M.P., Under-Secretary for Dominion Affairs and leading British figure in evacuating children to this country during the war, will reach Victoria Thursday, according to information received here today.

During his short visit he will meet the guest children sent to this city under his direction as well as local leaders of the Overseas Children Movement.

Present plans call for conferences between Mr. Shakespeare, Dr. George Davidson, Miss L. Mess, P. Walker, deputy provincial secretary, and possibly Hon. G. M. Weir if the last mentioned is in the city.

In order to give the British parliamentarian an opportunity to meet as many of the guest children and their foster parents as possible, tentative arrangements have been made for a reception Friday morning at 11 at the home of Miss Sara Spencer, Moss Street.

Max Maynard Heads Vancouver Gallery

Officials of Vancouver Art Gallery announced today Max Maynard of Victoria will take over the duties of secretary-manager of the Art Gallery next Wednesday morning, replacing A. S. Grigsby of Vancouver, who has accepted a position with the government at Ottawa.

Thirteen motorists were fined $2.50 each in City Police Court today on parking charges.

150 Will Seek Seats in B.C.

The names of 150 British Columbia citizens will be thrown into the political melting pot tomorrow, and out of them, on October 21, will come 48 men and women to compose the province's twentieth Legislative Assembly.

Official nominations will close at 1 tomorrow afternoon. The Liberal government party will have candidates for each of the 48 seats in the 41 ridings. Conservatives and C.C.F. may not nominate in one or two ridings, but their total of candidates will be close behind. There is a smattering of Independents.

Barring a last-minute surprise the ridings of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt will have straight three party fights. There is talk of one Independent in Victoria, but this is not definitely settled.

Sure candidates are those chosen by the party conventions. The Victoria slates are: Liberals: Hon. John Hart, W. T. Straith, K.C., and Mrs. Nancy Hodges.

Conservatives: Major J. D. Hunter, Waldo S. Skillings and Alderman D. D. McTavish. C.C.F.: W. B. Caird, Mrs. Clare McAllister and H. O. Simpson. Contestants in the other local constituencies are:

Oak Bay: Prof. E. S. Farr, Liberal; Herbert Anson, Conservative; Geoffrey LeGallais, C.C.F. Saanich: Hon. Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Liberal; Lieut. Col. Macgregor Macintosh, Conservative; Martin Neilson, C.C.F. Esquimalt: Commander C. T. Beard, Liberal; Flying-Officer E. V. Finland, Conservative; Harry Webber, C.C.F.

In Victoria the official nominations will be received at the sheriff's office where returning officer H. E. A. Courtney will be on hand from 12 to 1. In Oak Bay and Esquimalt nominations will be at the municipal halls and in Saanich at the Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall.

Close to 400,000 people will be eligible to vote on the candidates. In Victoria the official register, with 1937 figures in brackets, is as follows: 23,265 (21,452); in Oak Bay 6,157 (4,158); in Saanich 11,516 (8,587), and in Esquimalt 5,908 (5,679).

First to cast their votes will be the members of the armed forces who are overseas. Ballots for the men who will vote under special regulations have already gone to England. Tomorrow night the full list of candidates will be cabled to returning officers there. Overseas voting will start October 9 and continue October 10 and 11. Ballots will then be sealed until the morning of October 22. Men who are stationed outside the province in Canada and Newfoundland will vote October 14, 15 and 16.

The political campaign will get under full steam this week. Premier Pattullo will keynote for the Liberals in a half-hour radio address over a provincial network tomorrow night at 8.30. R. L. Maitland, Conservative leader, left Vancouver today for a swing through the Kootenays and Cariboo districts. He made the Conservative keynote speech over the air last Friday, following Arthur J. Turner, who led off for the C.C.F.

A new suit valued at $29.50 was stolen by a thief or thieves who broke into a room at the rear of a barber shop owned by Way Kee at 1705 Government Street Saturday night, city police reported. A room in the Panama Hotel, Johnson Street, was reported entered Saturday night or Sunday morning but nothing was taken.

ST. PAUL'S MARKS GOLDEN JUBILEE

The golden jubilee of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, was celebrated Sunday with special services.

Rev. John McTurk of Richmond Church, Vancouver, and moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of B.C., preached at the morning service on "God's Jubilee Year Is Here."

In the evening Rev. Hector N. Maclean, a former minister of St. Paul's, spoke on "Things That Cannot Be Shaken."

Rev. James Hyde, who has held the St. Paul's pastorate since 1934, conducted all services.

Music for the day included "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "The Holy City," and at 7.30 the choir, augmented by the Wesley United Church choir, rendered "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" and the "Te Deum."

This evening at 7.45 a social gathering will be held at the church hall, when an address will be given by Mr. McTurk and greetings conveyed by representatives of other churches.

Rev. Donald MacRae, who began work in the district as early as 1886, conducted services at Cedar Hill, Craigflower, Metehosin and Sooke, thus laying the foundation of St. Paul's congregation, but also that of Sooke and what is now St. Aidan's United Church at Mount Tolmie. Services were held in Temple's Hall, Victoria West, for some years, and in 1891 the congregation decided to build and the cornerstone of the church was laid in May of that year by Hon. John Robson, former Premier of the province. Dr. MacRae continued his ministry until 1913. Other ministers of the church were: Rev. H. N. MacLean, 1913-22; Rev. J. S. Patterson, 1922-30; Rev. G. F. Cox, 1930-34, and Rev. James Hyde, 1934-41.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any drugist and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugist will gladly return your money.

Japanese Look To Washington

TOKYO (AP)—A lengthy conference between United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and Foreign Minister Admiral Teijiro Toyoda Saturday was disclosed today.

Authoritative quarters said matters of high importance undoubtedly were discussed but there was no official disclosure of their nature.

Disclosure of the Grew-Toyoda conference came close on the heels of the British Embassy's announcement Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie had postponed his planned departure for a three-month vacation in United States as the result of suggestions from London.

Belief was expressed in informed quarters that a new turn is imminent in the diplomatic situation among Japan, United States and Britain, which apparently has been at a standstill for some weeks. It was indicated the Japanese are looking to Washington for the next development.

In some quarters it was considered significant the American ambassador was with Toyoda on the day Japan was observing in subdued fashion the first anniversary alliance with Germany and Italy.

However, on the surface there was no indication of any Japanese readiness to consider the ties with the Axis less binding, the general theme of anniversary speeches being that the three-power alliance was a foundation-stone of Japanese foreign policy.

The German ambassador in Tokyo, Maj.-Gen. Eugen Ott, said today he was struck by "the warm feeling" of the Japanese for the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo accord expressed by "so many gatherings of organizations," messages and editorials.

Chemical Attraction

Primal Basis of Society

By DR. FRANK THONE

CHICAGO—What kind of perfume does Paramecium use?

Paramecium is a microscopic one-celled animal that swims in stagnant waters. Its aggregations, forming the most elementary kind of social groupings, are held together by chemical attraction, more irresistibly than a "swell" is drawn to his belle by the exotic scent that breathes from her dainty person.

The chemical basis of this simple society was described here by Dr. H. S. Jennings of the University of California at Los Angeles, in an address before a symposium of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, held in connection with the semicentennial celebration of the University of Chicago.

The water around an individual Paramecium becomes faintly acid, Dr. Jennings said. Another Paramecium, changing into this acidified zone, becomes unable to leave it. Every time it approaches the boundary, it is impelled to turn back. Others swim into the charmed circle, and are held as if by the fumes from an ancient magician's potent philtre.

Dr. Jennings found that he could reproduce this chemical social attraction simply by introducing a bubble of carbon dioxide into the water. It set up a charmed chemical boundary just like that of the Paramecium's natural secretion, which the little animals could enter but which they could not leave. Since carbon dioxide is a product of respiration by Paramecium as well as by man, it is just possible that the only chemical foundation for the charmed social circle in the world of the water-drop is nothing more than an attractive "breath."

While Paramecium normally reproduces simply by splitting into two parts, it does at times form sexual unions. There are not merely two well-defined sexes in this animal group, but four sex types, capable of six different ways of pairing off.

When masses of individuals of two different sex types are mingled, they first "throw a party." Instead of simply pairing off, everybody rushes together

Huskies Beaten

SEATTLE (AP)—The boy they've been talking up as an all-American candidate, 193-pound half-back Bruce Smith, lived up to all the advance notices Saturday before 43,000 impressed spectators as he led the mighty Minnesota Gophers to a 14 to 6 victory over the University of Washington.

The intersectional gridiron opener, witnessed by Seattle's record crowd, saw Smith virtually alone carry on his team's offensive to score touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters.

And it was the toe of Bill Gar-naas, playing his first season, that made victory doubly sure, because the Gophers were only leading 7 to 6 up to the last two minutes of play.

Waved Goodbye, Swam Away

Canadian Gave Life To Save His Mates

By DREW MIDDLETON

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—The wooden-legged master of the torpedoed freighter Pink Star told today a story of self-effacing heroism by the Canadian second officer, J. L. (Jim) Cassidy of Newcastle, N.B., who gave up his life so as not to overcrowd a lifeboat.

"Cassidy swam up to our lifeboat. He saw that it was full, waved goodbye and swam away. We never saw him again," said Capt. John Mackenzie of Halifax.

He looked around at the grim faces of his 23 fellow survivors of the crew of 36. No one said a word. You could hear the wind beating against the side of the Icelandic hut where this tense interview was granted.

The master himself, the 53-year-old Mackenzie, was in the water for five hours. But his tribute was for Cassidy.

"It was the finest thing I ever saw," he said.

Of himself, Capt. Mackenzie said, "with two lifebelts to keep me up and a bit of wood from a lard box to paddle with," he had managed to keep moving for three hours. Two hours before he was picked up, however, he had lost the use of his good leg and the stump of the other from the numbing cold of the water.

He chuckled when he said that the chill had no effect on his artificial leg.

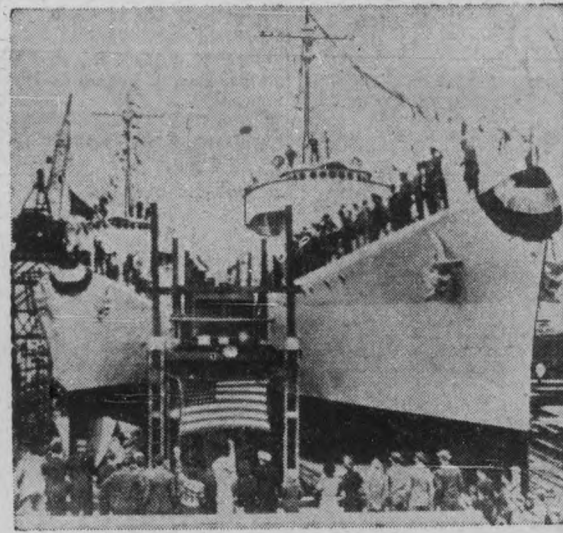

Of the tense moments before the Pink Star went down, he said:

"I could see the torpedoes coming for just minutes. I shoved the ship hard apart and then they hit. Glory be, it was like the judgment of God. She seemed to be tearing to pieces.

"A bit of a life raft was blown up on the bridge and the water thrown up by the explosion came up to my waist as I stood there," Capt. Mackenzie said. The explosion smashed all the lifeboats but one. Night was closing in. It was then 5.25 p.m.

"When we got the one boat down we found she was half full of water from this tidal wave the explosion threw up.

"The Pink Star went down fast. Eight minutes it was all up. Some got in the lifeboat and the others jumped overboard in their belts. I had plenty of time. I got the secret papers and weighted them and threw them overboard. Then I took a lifebelt, found another and got off just as she was going down."

Capt. Mackenzie paused, striking a match for his pipe.

"She reached for me, she did. I felt the suction tugging at me as though she wanted me with her, but I kept swimming. Alf Milden, the third officer, was swimming near me. I could see the boat and others in the water. It was very black."

Capt. Mackenzie said he swam about a bit to see if any of the others were injured.

"The steward was badly hurt about the head, a fellow the name of Seymour. He was pretty cheerful, but then all of a sudden he was gone. Another seaman was hollering and crying. He went, too. It's no place for crying—the north Atlantic."

Pretty soon Mackenzie no longer could see the lifeboat. "I was pretty alone and it was damned cold. Funny, I kept thinking of my ship. Lovely little thing she was and these damned Jerries had opened up her side like a tin can."

Fortunately the sea was fairly calm.

"It was heaven when the British man-of-war picked us up. I was done in when they got me aboard, but three hours later I was hopping around the commander's cabin."

Sifting through recent reports of heavy ship sinkings in the waters around Iceland and off the western coast of Britain, authorities here speculated today that they could be accounted for in large part by these pack attacks of short-range subs based on French channel and Norwegian ports.

The north Atlantic, as these experts theorize on the Nazi naval strategy, has been divided into three zones. The first of these, well over on the American side, is the zone for isolated attacks on shipping by long-range submarines.

The second, in mid-Atlantic, is believed to be the zone for U-boats of shorter cruising radius, and the third is the area of the wolf packs whose repeated assaults on British supply convoys in recent weeks have taken heavy toll.

Canadian Press

If there is any connection between geography and seasickness you can't prove it aboard the Canadian destroyer Assiniboine.

As evidence, she could dig into her crew and produce Petty Officer Roger Whynott from Lunenburg County, N.S.

Whynott grew up by the sea in a country where the mariner is the dominant figure. Yet, he says, "almost every time we go to sea I get sick. I missed it last time, but I can feel another dose coming on when we put out again."

His recurring malady is a source of wonder to the westerners of the crew and they form the big majority. Whynott says they "just can't figure out why I should be a victim when I came from where I do."

The boys of the Assiniboine are firm friends of Scotland. In stopovers at Scottish ports they found the warmest of hospitality.

"Once they find out you are a Canadian," Whynott says, "they can't do enough for you." His testimony is corroborated by dozens of other R.C.N. seamen.

Navy Casualties Now Number 359

OTTAWA (CP)—Loss of the Canadian corvette Levis with 18 of her crew as a result of enemy action brings total Canadian naval casualties in this war to 359.

The Levis was the first of the small, sturdy, Canadian-built vessels operated by the Royal Canadian Navy to go to the bottom since the outbreak of the war.

It followed four other Canadian naval losses, the destroyers Fraser and Margaree, sunk in collision; and the minesweeper Bras d'Or, lost in a storm; the patrol ship Otter, lost by fire.

Of the 18 men dead one was a member of the Royal Navy. The others were members of the Royal Canadian Navy. Two men were reported wounded and 40 were saved.

For reasons of official secrecy on matters relating to naval operations the minister said he could give no details of the way the ship was sunk, nor did he say where.

The fact the loss of life was so heavy, although the Levis did not sink immediately, and that no officers were included among the casualties was considered a possible indication the corvette was struck by a torpedo at or near the crew quarters, in the fore part of the hull.

The vessel was under the command of Lieut Charles W. Gilding, R.C.N.R., formerly of Riverport, N.S.

The death toll on the Levis was the smallest of any of the five Canadian disasters of the war so far.

Following is the Levis' casualty list: O.S. Orville Ashley, Nipigon, Ont.; O. Signalman Arthur Wellington Broughton, Winnipeg; O. Telegraph Daniel Alan Craig, Dauphin, Man.; Stoker Joseph Arthur Davieaux, Tarenton, Ont.; O. Seaman John Eades, St. Laurent, Quebec; Seaman Leslie Garfield Grant, Kingston, Ont. Stoker George Earl J. Jones, Ladner, B.C.; stoker Melvin Leverne Kneeland, Hanna, Alta.; A.B. John Michael McCarthy, Topsail, Nfld.; O.S. Wm. Edmund Roy Mansfield, Toronto; Stoker Andrew Richard Louis Meurant, Souris, P.E.I.; Stoker Orville Stephen Page, Warton, Ont.; A.B. Robert John Sheekleton, Toronto; Stoker Angus Donald Smyth, Inverness County, N. S.; Stoker Robert Borden White, survived by wife, Mrs. Vera White, Nelson Street, Vancouver.

A total of 850 passengers were carried by the steamer Princess Victoria on the first of the week-end special trips operated by the C.P.R. to relieve congestion on the regular Vancouver boats, caused by the movement of the men of the three services on week-end leave.

Leaving here at 1.30 Saturday afternoon for Vancouver the Princess Victoria took 380 passengers and, on the return trip Sunday, leaving Vancouver at 4.30, she carried 470.

The addition of this boat to the service, as expected, had the effect of relieving the travel congestion at weekends.

It worked out satisfactorily, stated Canadian Pacific officials today.

The special week-end service will be maintained as long as considered necessary. Although the Princess Victoria made the initial trip, it is intended to later alternate the Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan, the regular night boats, on this service.

While the service was arranged primarily for soldiers, sailors and airmen on leave, the general public may book passage on the extra steamer.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying was strictly rationed in today's stock market and, while specialties, principally sugars, managed to make headway, a wide assortment was unable to shift to the recovery route. The direction, except for a handful of favorites, remained cloudy to the close.

Sugar company shares regained popularity as world quotations for this staple soared. At new tops for the year were Central Violeto and Francisco. Cuba-American and Manati were higher. Skelly Oil and Gillette Safety Razor registered new highs for 1941.

Dow Chemicals, ex-rights, hit another new year's low in the morning but revived after mid-day for a good net advance.

Among laggards were Anaconda, N.Y. Central, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, Texas Corp., American Smelting and Consolidated Edison.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Reports of a small export business in Canadian wheat and lack of selling pressure left wheat futures with small gains on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Operations were quiet but a firm trend prevailed throughout the session and quotations closed 1/2 to 1/4 cent higher, October at 73 1/2, December 74 1/2 and May 78 1/2 cents a bushel.

Approximately 100,000 bushels of top grade northern wheat was reported sold to the United Kingdom. With offerings light, moderate support from domestic interests, mills and eastern houses was sufficient to boost values.

Wheat quotations at Chicago moved at levels about a cent higher, while Buenos Aires prices were unchanged.

Nos. 2 and 3 northern attracted shipper support in a quiet cash wheat market.

Point Advances

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices advanced up to a point in moderately active trading today on the stock market. Transportation and Industrials were stronger but mines and utilities were inclined to dip fractionally. Canadian Steamship Common and Preferred each moved up a point in carriers and rails while C.P.R. won a minor fraction rise. Firmer were Dominion Coal Pfd. and Dosco B.

Montreal Power, Brazilian and Shawinigan turned back in utilities but Bell Telephone was firmer. Weaker mines were Noranda and Consolidated Smelters.

Russian Empress Gave Land to German Settlers

A few weeks ago news came out of Russia about a great "movement of people." At least 400,000 Germans in Russia, it was said, were to be moved to Siberia.

The Germans mentioned in the dispatch were Russian citizens. Many of their ancestors had been in Russia since the time of Catherine the Great. Most of them probably were loyal to the Soviet Union, but it was feared that some were "fifth columnists." The reason given for moving them was the charge that secret police had found fifth column work going on among them. In other words, some were believed to be helping Hitler's invasion.

The history of those German Russians, or Russian Germans, goes back more than 170 years. They were invited by Catherine, then empress of Russia, to settle in her country.

Catherine wanted Germans in Russia because she thought they would be good citizens. She hoped that German farmers would work the land so well that better crops would be obtained.

To each family, the empress offered about 140 acres of land. She also promised to lend the settlers money, and not charge any interest on it for 10 years.

At that time there were various small German states instead of one large nation. Word of the offer was carried to the states, and thousands of German families made ready to move.

There were no railroads to carry the new settlers. They placed their goods in wagons and carts, and hitched beasts of burden to them, chiefly oxen. Slowly they made their way eastward, into the heart of Russia. Most of them settled in the valley of the Volga River. By the year 1770 there were about 50,000 Germans in the two Volga provinces known as Samara and Saratov.

Catherine's plan worked out very well. Not only did the German settlers prove to be good farmers; they also provided schoolmasters, druggists and others who traveled to various parts of Russia and helped bring about progress.

After the opening of the Russo-German war, the people of the German republic of the Volga met together in many places. At these meetings they spoke of being for Russia and against Hitler.

Yet proof appears to have been found that certain of them were ready to welcome Hitler's armies, and in the meantime to serve as spies for the Nazis. This worked harm for the whole group, since it led to the order to move them to Siberia.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am one of the most miserable people in the world, so miserable that I often think of committing suicide. The trouble is this: I am the wife of a man who does not love me and who only married me because he felt it was his duty to do so after having been engaged to me for two years. While he was engaged to me he fell deeply in love with a beautiful young woman and she with him, but he considered that he was in honor bound to me and went on with the marriage, which blasted three lives. I knew nothing about his change of feeling at the time. I only found it out when the strain of keeping up the pretence of being a happily married man broke him down and in his delirium he called continually for her. She is a fine woman who has never married because she still loves my husband as he loves her. There is no possibility of any affair between them. He is good and kind to me, but we just live on in a big house with her ghost forever between us. All three of us are very miserable.

Answer: This human document is a better sermon than any I can preach against the folly of men and women fulfilling a marriage engagement for which they have lost their inclination. Many do this because they think that having given a promise to marry they are bound to keep it, no matter how distasteful it has become to them, and so they march to the altar on leaden feet and wish that the church bells were ringing for their funerals instead of their weddings.

No more mischievous superstition survives in the world than that there is anything derogatory to either party in a broken engagement. For an engagement, after all, is nothing but a sort of option which a man and woman take on each other while they are testing out their own feelings, and trying to find out whether they are congenial or not before they close the contract by marriage.
